REST FOR THE WEARY

In a Beautiful Home By and By.

Bustle, bustle—hurry—tussle,
Getting ready for the fray;
Sea and mountain, shore and fountain,
All are calling us away.
'Tisn't comfort, but the fashion,
Which allures our daughters—wives;
They must mix with high-toned people
Who lead just such restless lives.
But my Mary—who, contrary
To the common run of dames,
Has a notion that the ocean
Is but stock for sharpers' games—
She said; "Here we'll stay contented.
Take our ease throughout the summer;
I'm not anxious to be noted
As the latest, silliest comer."
Bet your life my little wife
Knows what's best for two like us;
Solid home—no froth and foam—
Easy living, free from fuss.
But she says: "Go see McNichol,
Let him fix us, so to speak;
Take the old things, put in new ones—
We can pay it week by week."
First, by Jove! a gasoline stove;
Then, to freeze the old equator,
That new, best and boss ice-chest,
Mac's big, great refrigerator!
Carpets, curtains, folding beds.
And there isn't a happier man
Than the one who takes his comfort
By this grand installment plan!

It will be a cold day when a sensible family will get left when such chances are offered them to be happy. Home is the garden spot of earth. Go as you please in dog days. Everything lovely gotten from (Trade Mark.) THE ONLY M'NICHOL. 1022, 1024, 1033, 1034 Market St.

P. S.—McNichol desires only to help you to be happy and comfortable. He has the means. Now pay'n't you for small payments by the week? It beats summer resorts all hollow!

LONDON, June 13.—Mr. Gladstone met with an adventure to-day. While passing through the town of Wade Bridge, in Cornwall, a missile, which is believed to have been a live cartridge, was throwu at his carriage. Mr. Gladstone was not hit nor was he disturbed by the incident, but the police think it was an attempt upon his life and are looking for the man who threw the missile.

THE AMERICAN ENGINEERS.

The Institute of Civil Engineers gave a reception to-day in honor of the visiting engineers. President Goode warmly welcomed the guests and said that their influence had been one of the principal factors in raising the United States to the place of foremost nation on the earth. Mr. Thurston, on behalf of the visitors, returned the heartiest thanks for the cordiality with which they were received.

SAILORS STRIKE FOR MORE PAY

LIVERPOOL, June 13.—The Inman Line steamer City of New York, and the Anchor Line steamer City of Rome, which were to leave this port for New York yesterday, are detained owing to the refusal of the crew to sail with them. The company yesterday agreed to pay Union seamen wages and secured a crew, but on refusing to give a written guarantee that the wages would be for six months the crews left the steamers in the stream.

SHIPPED A NEW CREW.

The steamer City of New York succeeded in shipping a new crew to-day and sailed for New York.

THE MAYBRICK POISONING CASE.

At the hearing to-day in the case of Mrs. Maybrick, who is charged with poisoning her husband, Michael Maybrick, a brother of the deceased admitted he had given to the police a copy of a dispatch which the accused had requested him to cable to New York. He had sent the dispatch the next day.

HIRED FIREMEN AT QUEENSTOWN.

QUEENSTOWN, June 13.—The Anchor line steamer City of Rome left Liverpool yesterday and arrived here to-day. She secured seven firemen at this port and proceeded for New York. Fourteen sailors are waiting here to join the Inman line steamer City of New York, which was detained at Liverpool yesterday by the desertion of her crew. The striking seamen and firemen at the other ports still refuse to yield.

Russia.

VIENNA, June 13.—A Berlin letter in the Presse says the impression is increasing in Germany that the Czar's remark at a banquet in St. Petersburg recently, that the Prince of Montenegro was the sole sincere friend of Russia, was directed at Germany as well as Austria. The letter says the repetition of such an incident would banish all hope of maintaining peace and points to the continued strengthening of the Russian armaments on the Western frontier as an indication of Russia's hostile intentions.

Gladstone in Cornwall.

Special Cablegram to the Post-Dispatch.

LONDON, June 14.—The Gladstone enthusiasm in Cornwall is unabated. Yesterday he made five speeches and very interesting ones. He is sitting on a fence on the question of disestablishment. The Cornishmen are strong Liberationists. Gladstone sacrificed the Welsh and Scotch kirks and held out a shadowy hope that it would not injure the English church to be disendowed.

THE SIBERIAN RAILWAY.

A friend interviewed Gen. Anenkoff yesterday. He is full of the Siberian Railway to reduce the distance from London to Vladwostocks to fifteen days. The cost of the railway is to be £30,000,000.

THE TURF LIBEL CASE.

In the turf libel case the opinion in court is that Chetwynd is getting the best of it.

A vigorous protest is being circulated against the conduct of the ladies on the committee of the Woman's Federation who accompanied Dilke on his recent visit to Forest Dean. Until Dilke has vindicated himself in court his reappearance is impossible.

W. M. STEAD,
Editor Pall Mall Gazette.

The Armagh Disaster.

DUBLIN, June 13.—Full details of the terrible wreck at Armagh have been received and it is now known seventy children and women were killed and several hundred badly injured.

The excursion party left Armagh on two trains. The accident occurred at a point where the trains had to ascend a grade on a bank fifty feet high. The first train ascended the grade without trouble. The second section attempted the ascent, but the weight of the train proved too great for the engine. Several cars were detached and allowed to run back toward the level track, but before they reached it they came in collision with an ordinary train from Armagh, which was proceeding at a good rate of speed. The excursion cars were completely wrecked.

PENNED IN.

A dozen bodies were found under the engine. The doors of all the cars were locked, and many who could have escaped were penned in and met their death.

The front part of the train started back in pursuit of the runaway cars, and the passengers saw the collision at a distance of 800 yards. A car-driver named Hughes, who visited the scene of the disaster, was so horrified at the sight that he died on the spot. His corpse was taken to Armagh in his own cart.

The accident occurred at a point in the road where the embankment is seventy feet high, and down this steep incline the train rolled, crushing the life out of the people in the cars at every roll and bound. There are several instances where whole families are killed and hardly a family in Armagh has been spared from the blow. The number of injured is about one-third the entire number of passengers. Many will die from their injuries and may swell the list of fatalities from seventy-two, as it is now, to 100. At the formal inquest last evening the Magistrate said it appeared on the face of it that there had been most culpable negligence.

INQUIRIE[illegible] ARMAGH, Ju[illegible]

Crowds surround the building, and the discussion of the terrible disaster engrosses the attention of the entire community. The interior of the infirmary presents a sad spectacle. One of the wounded, a boy named Cleland, died this morning. Both of his parents and his two brothers were killed outright. The dead now number seventy-four. Others of the wounded are in a critical condition.

Delgado, the Bandit.

HAVANA, June 13.—Cristobal Fernandez Delgado, the bandit who kidnaped Senor Domingo Ugarte some time ago and who was executed at Jovellanos, leaves a wife who is the sister of the late notorious bandit, Lengu Romero. The courage and serenity displayed by Fernandez in his latest moments were such ...ttract general attention. Neither while conveyed to the scaffold or while ...ting it, did he make the least resistance. ...g himself upon the stool upon which ... about to be executed are placed, with a ..., firm voice he begged forgiveness of all ...n he had injured, and then told the ...utioner to act quickly, as he (Fernandez) ... ready and in a hurry. The condemned ... was 26 years of age. Several years ago a ...ther of his, named Rafael Fernandez, alias ...aravilla," while confined in the Ciengos jail, committed suicide by hanging.

Stanley Heard From.

ZANZIBAR, June 13.—A letter dated December 2, 1888, has been received here from Uvira, southeast of Victoria Nyanza. The letter states that Stanley arrived at Uvira in November, remained there five days and returned to Victoria Nyanza, leaving behind him fifty-six sick men and forty-six rifles. Most of the sick men died and a few weeks later Mr. Mitchell of Stanley's party came and took the rifles away. It was reported later that Stanley had lost a number of men through sickness and lack of provisions. While at Nyanza he gave a courier a letter to take personally to Agent General Sir Francis De Winton, who is an authority on African exploration. On receiving the letter he wrote:

MAKING FOR INSALOLA.

"The telegram just received via Zanzibar gives news of Stanley up to December 2 last. He was then at Uvira, at the southeast end of Lake Victoria Nyanza, having left Emin at Unyara, which is situated in the district of Kavirondo, at the southeast corner of the lake. It should be remembered that Stanley left his camp at Bonalya, on the Aruwimi, on the 4th of September, 1888, and as it would appear an impossibility for the journey from Bonalya to Uvira to be accomplished in eighty-two days, that is, from the 4th of September to the 2d of December, some mistake has been made as regards this date. It is quite possible for the messenger who brought the news to have left Uvira in the middle of February and reached Zanzibar on the 10th of June. Allusion to Mr. Mitchell is also somewhat puzzling. At present the white men with Mr. Stanley are Lieut. Stairs, Messrs. Nelson, Monteny, Jephson, Dr. Parkes and Mr. Bomney, besides Mr. Stanley's servant, and the only other white men in that part of Africa, are Emin Pasha and Capt. Casati. 'Nelson' might, however, become 'Mitchell' in passing into native vernacular and then back again into English. From the direction Mr. Stanley is taking it would appear that he is making for Insalola, at the south end of the lake, where a large depot of provisions were deposited more than a year ago, and as he would have the advantage of water carriages to take his caravan from Unyara to the Kagheyi missionary station, at the south end of the lake, it is to be hoped that he has for some time been in possession of his stores, so that the main difficulties of his enterprise have been successfully overcome. Should my surmise that he arrived at Uvira about the 2d of February in place of the 2d of December be correct, and that he has since pushed on to Kagheyi, at the south end of the lake, we may soon have further news, in addition to the letter given to the trader of Uvira, who forwarded this message, and who is bringing a letter himself to Zanzibar."

The Paris Labor Congress.

Special Cablegram to the Post-Dispatch.

LONDON, June 13.—The Paris correspondent of the Times appears inclined to make fun of the Labor Congress in the French Capital. In a dispatch yesterday he says:

"Henry George has brought his eggs to a strange market. He has come to the country of peasant proprietors to advocate the nationalization of land, and his congress is being held at the chief hotel of Paris at a cost of 2,000 francs. The 150 members who are seated on luxurious chairs in the gilded saloon evidently do not set the example of renouncing their landed or other possessions."

Germany.

BERLIN, June 13.—The American Commissioners to the Samoan Conference have received instructions from Mr. Blaine, the American Secretary of State, in relation to the protocol drawn up by the conference. Mr. Blaine disagrees with several provisions of the protocol, and also is of opinion that England or Germany have not gone far enough in respect to the right conceded to the United States. The conference had a sitting to-day to receive Mr. Blaine's reply. The English and German Commissioners will afterwards consider Mr. Blaine's objections and decide what policy they shall pursue, and upon the attitude which they adopt depends the continuance of the conference.

France.

PARIS, June 13.—MM. Laguerre and Laisant, members of the Chamber of Deputies, who with M. Deroulede and others were arrested at Angouleme on Sunday for rioting, have written to M. Meline, President of the Chamber of Deputies, protesting against their arrests as an attack upon the inviolability of Parliament.

THE CAB DRIVERS STRIKE.

The cab drivers of Paris have gone on a strike. There are no cabs in the streets to-day.

The strike was decided upon at a meeting of cabmen last night at which M. Basly, Socialist member of the Chamber of Deputies, presided and which was attended by all the Socialist members of the Municipal Council. A resolution was adopted ordering the drivers to strike and directing that a complaint be sent to the Chamber of Deputies and to the Ministry against the unfair manner in which the cabmen are treated.

CALLED ON M. CONSTANS.

To-day a delegation representing the strikers waited on M. Constans, the Minister of the Interior, and the Minister left a cabinet council in the palace of the Elysee in order to receive them. After the delegates had recited their grievances, M. Constans promised to consider their demands, and warned them to abstain from disorder while the city was filled with visitors.

THE PANAMA CANAL COMPANY.

The Cabinet to-day discussed the difficulties of the Panama Co. The liquidator of the company read his report and the result of his findings will be that the Government will shortly present a bill to the Chamber of Deputies dealing with the matter.

The Dominion.

PICTON, Ontario, June 13.—Lord A. P. Cecil, the Evangelist, was drowned yesterday afternoon in the Bay of Quinte, near Adolphus Town, about six miles east of this place. His body has not yet been recovered.

THE UNFORTUNATE EVANGELIST.

TORONTO, Ontario, June 13.—Lord Adelbert Percy Cecil was a son of the second Marquis of Exeter, and was born in 1841. He was formerly a Lieutenant in the Rifle Brigade, and had been stationed in Canada. He was a brother of the present Marquis of Exeter, once well-known as Lord Burghley. The family seat is Burghley House, near Stanfordtown. Lord Salisbury, the English Prime Minister, belongs to a distantly connected branch of the same family.

Scotland.

GLASGOW, June 13.—The striking dock laborers along the Clyde show no signs of weakening. There are now 6,000 men around this harbor who have quit work. The strikers stopped and set fire to a van in which provisions were being carried to imported laborers in the Anchor Line sheds.

THE LORD PROVOST'S REFUSAL.

LONDON, June 13.—The Lord Provost of Edinburg has refused to confer the freedom of the city upon Mr. Parnell on the occasion of the visit of the Irish leader in July. The senior magistrate present at the ceremony will therefore officiate.

OFFICE OF THE POST-DISPATCH IN EAST ST. LOUIS, Eighth street and St. Louis avenue.

Mr. C. B. Carroll is the reporter for the POST-DISPATCH in East St. Louis. He can be found or addressed at the above office.

The City Council did not meet yesterday, as only a few members were present.

Messrs. Sage and Kickey, who left here some time ago for Oklahoma, have returned, but expect to go back soon.

Miss Jennie O'Halloran, niece of Rev. P. J. O'Halloran of St. Patrick's Church, arrived here this morning on a short visit to friends.

Hon. D. G. Ramsey leaves to-day for Cleveland, as delegate to the National Telegraphers' Association, which convenes in that city early next week.

East St. Louis Royal Arch Chapter, No. 156, will meet this evening at their hall on Broadway and work in the mask master degree will be transacted.

Examination for the High School commenced this morning under the direction of Prof. Chas. Manners. There are twenty-six applicants for promotion.

Mr. John Davis, employed at Kurrus' livery stable as hostler, was severely kicked by a vicious mule yesterday evening. Dr. Wilhelmj dressed the wound and pronounced it not necessarily fatal.

The directors of District No. 2 of the northern part of the city appointed a full corps of teachers for the ensuing year last night, consisting of Messrs. M. Stern, M. J. Carroll, Miss Maggie Kehoe and a lady from the Northern Illinois Normal School.

The building committee who have charge of the arrangemet for errecting the new parsonage for St. Patrick's Parish, met last evening at the school hall and received bids for the house. The committee took the matter under advisement and will report this evening.

In Monday evening's issue of the POST-DISPATCH it was unintentionally stated that the old debt upon St. Patrick's Church was in the neighborhood of $50,000. This statement gives offence to certain parties and especially to the former rector of the church, as the sum of the indebtedness was not that amount. It was smaller, although the exact figure can not be given.

A small fire occurred this morning in a shanty on Third street, occupied by a colored family, but the shanty was only slightly damaged. Capt. Kinney of the Fire Department and Chief of Police Walsh arrived before the flames got any headway, and in a few minutes had them completely under control. Had the fire spread a conflagration would have marked its path, as the building is situated in the immediate vicinity of a large number of frame structures.

In the matter of John Dowd et al. against John N. Renshaw, as City Treasurer, and which has been pending in the Circuit Court for some time, a decision was rendered yesterday evening against Renshaw. Mr. Renshaw, some time before the expiration of his term of office, was enjoined against paying out certain sums in his possession. Pending the original litigation a new Treasurer took charge of the office and Renshaw turned over all moneys and other effects to him, and received an indemnifying bond for the same. The matter will undoubtedly be appealed.

Belleville.

The following marriage licenses were issued to-day by County Clerk Rhein: Robert Hall of Lentz Station and Miss Emma Lee, also of Lentz; Louis Klein of St. Louis and Miss Bertha A. Heutchler of Mascoutah; Theodore Horn and Lena Barthel of Freeburg.

Antoine Schwartzwalder, the German Count who created quite a sensation by introducing to his Belleville wife a lady from New York as wife No. 2, will probably have considerable difficulty in extricating himself from the imbroglio. It seems that Schwartzwalder, who was highly respected in this section as a man of business and honesty, left his quiet home on Jackson st. informing his wife and friend that he desired to absent himself for a couple of weeks for the purpose of investigating some property in Germany which he claimed belonged to him as the rightful heir. Nothing was heard from him until yesterday, when to his little wife's utter astonishment a beautiful lady of fascinating appearance presented herself as the life partner of the recreant Schwartzwalder. Wife No. 1 accepted the situation very unconcernedly and did not swoon away or go into paroxysms of grief over the matter, but coolly informed all callers that she would stand by her loving Antoine until the end of time and continue to believe in him. She even went so far as to state that she would be willing to grant a divorce if that proceeding would assist him in obtaining his rights in Fatherland. The older citizens of Belleville claim that there is no question of his claims to property in Germany. Many view it as a clear case of concession on the part of the woman to submit to temporary separation in order that Schwartzwalder may legitimately present his claims for the property as the law of that country would not permit him to inherit under the first marriage. Wife No. 2 left for New York late yesterday evening and also seems resigned to her position and fate, whatever it may be.

Brilliant Lodge No. 55, Knights of Pythias, held its annual memorial services last evening at the Masonic and Pythian Hall. Quite a number of members of the various lodges throughout the city were present.

THE CONEMAUGH FLOOD.

FIFTEEN HUNDRED LABORERS START WORK AT JOHNSTOWN THIS MORNING.

The Clearing Away of the Debris Fairly Under Way—Favorable Weather—Survivors Recovering From Their Prostration and Business Resumed—Death-Roll Now Estimated at Between Three and Four Thousand.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., June 13.—The first real work under the supervision of the State commenced this morning at 6 o'clock. The whistle at the Cambria Iron and Steel-works was the signal for the men to commence and about 1,500 started in with their picks and shovels. The early morning was warm and cloudy and the fumes and odors from the decayed bodies was something almost unbearable. As the morning advanced the weather grew warmer, and by 10 o'clock the sun was shining brightly and every one on the ground was hard at work. During the morning a crowd of worthless loafers in some manner secured an entrance to the town and wanted to inaugurate a strike among the workmen. Some of the laborers were already dissatisfied at having new bosses over them and only wanted a chance to complain. James McKnight of Pittsburg, one of the State contractors, got wind of the trouble brewing and went among the men and informed them that he would have no kicking and that all those who wished to quit would have to do so immediately and about 100 of the men left, but the loafers remained around and Mr. McKnight went to Gen. Hastings and demanded protection for the men. A detachment of militia from the Fourteenth Regiment were detailed to the place and they drove away all the men who refused to work. This caused Gen. Hastings to issue an order to the soldiers not to admit anyone to Johnstown proper without an order.

BUSINESS MEN AROUSED.

The business men of the town seemed to have awakened to their senses and this morning a number of them were preparing to start over again in business. Two grocery stores were started near the Pennsylvania Railroad freight station. Both places were doing a land-office business and this encouraged other merchants to start up and the probabilities are that inside of a week at the latest a hundred stores will be in operation. Already two barber-shops and one jewelry store have been opened.

Gen. Hastings was up very early this morning and was kept hustling for several hours to get things rightly started. He said:

"As yet I do not know how many men are at work, but I suppose there must be 1,500 at the least calculation. We intend to put as many men to work as can be worked properly. I don't suppose we want more than 5,000, and it will be an easy matter to get that many men. I do not want to employ any one but Pennsylvania men, and would like to get as many Johnstown people at work as possible. They are the ones that need the work. A false impression has gotten out to the effect that the boroughs here are under martial or military law. This is a mistake. The State has charge of the work, and the only thing the military is doing is guarding the property. We will clear away all the debris on the streets and level the town off. I do not know yet whether we will clean out the cellars of the houses, but if I had my way I would do it. It is as little as the State can do to clean out these places and give the people clean foundations to build on. Besides there is not the least doubt but that there are a number of bodies in these cellars and they should be taken out."

WORKING SYSTEMATICALLY.

Gen. Hastings has now gotten everything down to a system. There will be one morgue and hospital and one headquarters. Everything has now been centralized and it is easy to get the facts.

Capt. Seers of the United States army of the Corps of Engineers at Willets Point, and Capt. Burbank of the West Point Engineering Corps, have laid out the different boroughs in five districts and competent men have been appointed to take charge of each district. Capt. Seers in an interview said:

"I am only here to advise Gen. Hastings and do what I can to help him. I think that inside of two weeks that the three thousand or four thousand men that will be at work will succeed in putting the town in very good shape, and I think inside of a month Johnstown will have almost recovered from this terrible shock."

The Loss of Life.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., June 13.—The general opinion among well posted people here is that the loss of life will be between 3,000 and 4,000. It was generally given out that Johnstown and boroughs adjoining had a population of 35,000 people, but this a very high estimate, and conservative people put the population between 25,000 and 28,000. Col. Rogers, who has charge of the registration, states that from all he can learn the population only amounted to about 25,000, and this accounts for 10,000 people supposed to be lost. The reports sent out from here to the effect that 12,000 to 15,000 people were missing was based upon the supposition that there were 35,000 inhabitants in these boroughs. The reports as to the number of bodies recovered at different points along the flooded districts are very conflicting. Supposed official reports have been sent in by different persons and these are also conflicting and put the number of bodies recovered anywhere from 1,100 to 1,800. Consequently there is no telling how many bodies have been recovered.

Bodies of Lost Passengers Recovered.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., June 13.—The following is the only full and complete list of passengers lost from the day express on the Pennsylvania Road at East Conemaugh on the day of the flood:

Miss Long, Curwensville, Pa.; her body recovered. She had three children in her charge, but they have not been found.

Cyrus Schenck, Reading, Pa.; Miss J. B. Rainey, Kalamazoo, Mich.; Miss Paulson, Pittsburg; Miss Bryan, Philadelphia; Mr. Ross, a cripple, residence unknown; Mr. Ewing, Ligonier, Pa., body not found; manager of the Mansfield (Pa.) Base Ball Club, name unknown, body not found; E. Lyon of New York, body not found; E. F. Phillips, colored porter on Pullman car, residence Thirty-eighth street, Philadelphia; W. S. Heely, Newark, N. J., body not found. Mrs. J. F. King, residence unknown, body not recovered; Anna Bates, companion of Mrs. King, body not recovered; Mrs. Swinford, New Berlin, O., aged 70 years, weight about 150 pounds, body not recovered; Mrs. Edward Swinford, St. Louis, Mo., destination Middleboro, Pa., body not found; Mrs. McCoy, body recovered and buried; two boys, sons of Mrs. McCoy, bodies not recovered; Mrs. H. K. Smith and child, 3 years of age, bodies not recovered.

FIVE BODIES RECOVERED.

Five bodies were recovered this morning and removed to the general morgue. The unfortunates were all women and only two were identified, Mrs. Wm. Layton and Mrs. Alice Jones. The other three were held for about two hours for identification and then buried.

The Doctors Quarrel.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., June 13.—There is a fight between Dr. Matthews of the State Board of Health and Kate C. Bushnell, M. D., of Illinois, who is here. Miss Bushnell claims that she has been appointed to supervise the sanitation of homes by the State Board of Health, and this Dr. Matthews denies. This morning Miss Bushnell issued a circular to the women of Johnstown, requesting them to meet at the headquarters of the Children's Aid Society at the corner of Main and Jackson streets at 10:30 a. m. to devise means of putting the homes of Johnstown in a good sanitary condition. In a note at the bottom of the circular she states that the work will be done by friends from a distance in co-operation with the State Board of Health. When Dr. Matthews saw the circular he was considerably agitated and stated that Miss Bushnell had no authority to call such a meeting. A meeting was held this morning at the headquarters of the Western Pennsylvania Aid Society by Dr. Kate C. Bushnell and her corps of workers and about twenty-five resident women of Johnstown. Dr. Bushnell detailed one woman of her corps and about three of the residents to each district of their own selection, and ... women will report to the corps ... their district. A call will then ... with b... ... and water to render the now standing houses fit for habitation.

HE SMASHED THE FURNITURE.

George Harding Furnishes Some Sport in the Police Court.

George Harding, a young man well known about town was the leading actor in an iconoclastic demonstration in a place of evil resort on North Twenty-first street at an early hour one morning last week. He sought to utilize his surplus energy in a savage attack upon the furniture of the house. The inmates tried to prevent the spoliation of the furniture, but Harding was so persistent that the police were called by the occupants. Officers Dee, Fay, Cramer and O'Hara responded to the call and placed Mr. Harding under arrest. Not being satisfied with one easy capture the officers concluded to arrest the women on a charge of being inmates of an improper place of resort. The hoodlum wagon was called and the whole outfit was loaded in and driven to the station. The cases were brought up in the Second District Police Court the same day, but a continuance was asked which was granted, and the cases came to trial to-day. The inmates refused to prosecute Harding and the police officers said that they did not witness the warlike demonstrations, but that the rooms bore evidences of an eruption of some kind when they entered. Harding was fined the costs in the case. There was no one to prosecute the women except the police officers, and their cases were nolle prosequied. The trouble occurred over the woman who keeps the house. Harding kicked in all the doors he could find, broke all the pictures and in other ways expended his fury on all the inanimate objects he could lay hands on. The trial at one time promised to be a very exciting one, as Harding had threatened to subpœna a number of well-known citizens to testify to the character of the resort. His threat caused some alarm, as he is known to be thoroughly unscrupulous, until it was remembered that no attention would be paid by any decent court to the demands of such a man as Harding for such a purpose.

THE CHOUTEAU ESTATE.

NEARLY 4,000 FRONT FEET SOLD FOR $118,330 IN THREE HOURS.

The Auction Attended by a Comparatively Small Number of People—They Remain With the Auctioneer to the Last and Pay Fair Prices for the Property—A Good Deal of It Secured by a Non-Resident Syndicate Presumably for Railroad Purposes.

The great auction sale to-day of property in the Mill Creek Valley, east of Compton avenue and north of the railway tracks, owned by the estate of Gabriel S. Chouteau; was a complete success. There was an aggregate frontage of 3,800 front feet, which sold for $118,330.

Messrs. Chas. H. and Thos. T. Turner put in an appearance at 10:30 o'clock. Judge Lanham announced the terms of sale requiring $20 earnest money on knocking down each lot, one-third cash and the balance in one and two years, bearing 6 per cent interest. John N. Dyer, the executor of the estate, being sick, was not present.

The first piece offered was 25x138 feet on the south side of Clark avenue, 127½ feet east of Compton, which was sold at $34.50 to Mrs. Mary Murphy.

The 35x120 foot lot at the southeast corner of Adams and Compton sold at $25 a foot to N. H. Ehlen.

Lot No. 28 on the plat, 25x120, situate sixty-five feet east of Compton avenue, sold at $23.50 to William Riley.

Fourteen lots in city block No. 2237, located on the south side of Atlantic or Randolph street, and extending from Cardinal west to Compton avenue, were next offered. The lot No. 1 at the southeast corner of Atlantic and Compton was put up with the privilege of taking all the ground described. Hull.

The remaining portion of the block, 330 feet, sold at $54 a foot to L. B. Jones, who says he bought for a syndicate of five or six non-resident parties, who purchased the premises with a view of reselling to any one who may want it in the future. Mr. Jones says he exceeded his limit $15 a foot.

CITY BLOCK NO. 2238,

CITY BLOCK, NO. 5239,

aggregating 780 front feet, bounded by Compton avenue on the west, Cardinal on the east, Bernard on the north and Scott on the south was put up as a whole. The bidders were Wm. Goldstein and M. Loenstein, L. L. Hull, J. B. Johnson, Jos. T. Donovan. Messrs. Goldstein and Loenstein bought it at $25 a foot. It was bought for speculative purposes.

CITY BLOCK NO. 2240,

bounded by Cardinal, Compton, Bernard and Adams. Lot No. 19, 25x120 feet, was offered with the privilege of No. 20, fronting 27½ feet at the northwest corner of Cardinal and Bernard, and was sold for $20.50 per foot to John Dwyer.

The remaining Cardinal avenue front was sold to the same buyer, John Dwyer, at $20 a foot.

The Bernard street lots in block 2240, north side numbered 21 to 30 inclusive, aggregating 265x120 feet, were sold at $18.50 per foot to George Gauss.

Two lots about 50 feet north of Adams 55x120 on the east side of Cardinal avenue, sold at $25 to G. Meyerson.

City block No. 2553 is between Bernard, Adams, Montrose and Cardinal avenues. Lot No. 19, 25x120 feet, on the south line of Bernard street sold at $20 a foot to Uriah Raub, who also took the five adjoining lots, 21 to 24 inclusive, at the same price.

In the same block, fronting on Adams street, south side, two lots, Nos. 4 and 5, 50x120 feet, were sold at $28 a foot to Jerre Ryan.

In city block No. 2550 13 lots were put up as a whole. The first offer was $20 a foot. It was sold at $49 a foot to L. B. Jones.

CITY BLOCK NO. 2551.

In this same block, No. 2551, eight lots, fronting 212 feet by a depth of 120 on the south side of Scott avenue, commencing at the corner of Montrose and extending westward, were sold at $24 a foot to W. S. Fleming.

The sale of the premises, No. 406 North Eleventh street, consisting of a two-story brick building and 25x127 feet of ground, for $9,025, from Julia A. Porter, the grantor, to R. S. McDonald, is reported by Meagher & Nagle.

Domestic Difficulties.

Charles Hensley, formerly residing at No. 2607 Lucas avenue, was prosecuted by his wife, Jennie, on a charge of disturbing the peace to-day before the Second District Police Court and fined $25. Mrs. Hensley's statement was that Charles came home drunk on Monday last and flourished a revolver in a threatening manner about her, in consequence of which, and other provocations, she instituted proceedings for a divorce the next day. Mr. Hensley was notified of her action yesterday and he went home and raised another disturbance with her, which led to his arrest. Mr. Hensley promised to leave the city and return to his father, who lives in Indiana, and the fine was stayed with the understanding that he should fulfill his promises.

THE MADISON SCHOOL PICNIC.

Principal Dyer and Some of the Parents Opposed to It.

The announcement printed in yesterday's POST-DISPATCH that the Madison School would give a picnic on Thursday at Concordia Park brought to this office a note from Mr. William C. Dyer, principal of the Madison School, in which he says the publication is misleading. He calls attention to a circular which will be printed and distributed by means of the school children, and which states that "at a public meeting held on June 10 at No. 1203 South Broadway it was resolved by an overwhelming majority that the Madison School should not have a picnic this year. This resolution was supported by the following gentlemen: Messrs. Peterson, Hatton, Haun, Kist, Broeg, Weber, Renz, Skidmore, Stampfer, Goettler, Weissenborn, Sennewald, Koehler and Wallis." The reasons for taking this action are, according to the circular, the lateness of the season, the expected absence of the teachers from the city and the inability to secure a suitable place for the picnic. The Executive Committee, whose signatures are appended to the circular, are Messrs. Sennewald, Weissenborn and Rentz. These gentlemen claim that as there are 1,800 children attending the Madison School, it would not be advisable to give a picnic without the co-operation of the teachers. And then again, this school has given the banner picnics in former years, and the friends of the school have no desire to attempt anything that would not be as ... successful as their previous efforts.

The picnic announced for Thursda... hands of a committee, who ... termined, despite all opposition, to ... success.

NIN'S ASSASSINS

Special Grand-Jury in Session nd Examining Witnesses.

That Maroney Is One of the "Williams" Brothers.

tlin's Description of the Doctor's —One of the Carlsons Identifies as the Renter of the Cottage— Statement of Mr. Jack Stanley Gauzy Story—Chicago Officers in New York To-Morrow—Ar- n the Writ of Habeas Corpus ngs To-Morrow.

Ill., June 13.—A morning paper ays ne of the most important and startling statements in connection with the Cronin murder was made yesterday by Mr. Jack Stanley of the City Sewerage Department to two friends—T. P. O'Connor and Michael Hart. The conversation was about Woodruff, who is supposed to have driven the wagon with the trunk containing Cronin's body. Stanley, in reply to a question from Hart, said that he knew Woodruff from the fact that he worked at Dean's livery stable on Webster avenue, where he kept his stallion.

"I was suspicious of the fellow," said Stanley, "and I was afraid he would steal my horse or take him out for service. I made inquiries about him and found he had worked three weeks at the stable for nothing but his board. He was frequently seen in conversation during the three weeks with a man whom I afterwards ascertained to be Coughlin, the policeman arrested for the murder of Dr. Cronin."

"How long before the night of the murder lid you see Woodruff?" asked Hart.

"I saw him that night. I was at the Dean table about 9 or 9:30 p. m. Woodruff began o act in a suspicious manner. He slept in the oft over the stable. He took off his shoes on he stable floor and climbed in his stocking eet into the loft to sleep. Five or six mintes after he retired I saw him peep over the tairway to see whether we had gone. I hink we delayed longer than usual but we finally went out after a time and forgot all about the matter."

Stanley was sure that Dan Coughlin, now under arrest on the charge of murder, is the person who was seen in conversation with Woodruff immediately before the murder. The importance of the statement lies in the fact that it corroborates Woodruff's story as related to Chief Hubbard to a remarkable degree. It connects Woodruff with Coughlin, the detective.

STANLEY'S DENIAL.

Mr. Jack Stanley of the City Sewerage Department declares that the story to the effect at he had seen Detective Coughlin and Voodruff in frequent conference previous to r. Cronin's death is untrue; that the only oundation for the story was that he expressed fear that Woodruff would steal his horse.

THE GRAND-JURY IN SESSION.

The principal interest in the Cronin case as centered this morning in the Grand-jury at met at 10 a. m., in Judge Shepard's ourt. The strict orders of secrecy which were stituted yesterday, were in no wise departed from. A Bailiff stood guard at e foot of the stairs below the jury-room, d no one but witnesses and officers of the ourt was even allowed to ascend to the floor e. In accordance with the general sumons issued, various witnesses arrived early the scene. Mrs. Conklin and John J. Cronin were the first to make an appearance, the former leaning upon the arm of the murdered man's brother. The Carlsons, father and son, came next, and were followed by Capt. Schuettler and Pat Dinan, the liveryman. Luke Dillon and P. W. Dunn spent a few minutes in the jury-room, but only to give suggestions as to the propriety of summoning certain witnesses who might supply missing links in the long chain of circumstantial evidence. Martinson, the express man who hauled the furniture to the Carlson cottage, and Thiel, the bartender who found the bloody trunk after it had been abandoned by Woodruff and his accomplices, were both escorted to the jury-room by an accommodating bailiff. Mrs. Conklin was the first witness who testified, and she occupied the chair about twenty minutes. Her testimony was only a repetition of that which has been many times published, except that she attempted a minute description of the men who, by means of the ice man's card, decoyed Cronin to his death on May 4. This description, so far as Mrs. Conklin's memory extended, tallied perfectly with the published description of McDonald, the blacksmith now under arrest in New York.

THE WITNESSES.

The remainder of the jury's investigation during the forenoon was singularly devoid of interest. Pat Dinan, the liveryman, took the stand, repeated his oft-told story and was excused. His evidence varied in no wise from his testimony before the Coroner's jury. Old man Carlson, the owner of the death cottage, detailed the particulars of the renting of the property and was required to tax his memory to its utmost for a faithful description of the parties who took possession of the house and whose identity is now so eagerly desired by the Chicago police. He became slightly confused in his story, however, and shed but little light upon the case. His son was next called to the stand and he did some better. His description of Williams tallied in many respects with that of John J. Maroney, the dapper cockney Irishman whom the New York police have now in custody. Chief Hubbard feels hopeful that these two will turn out to be one and the same. Capt. Schuettler was on hand and was called in once or twice to enlighten the jury as to the scope and result of his investigation in certain particulars. Chief Hubbard made his appearance in citizen's dress and was alive to all new developments of interest.

THOMAS DESMOND LOCATED.

Chief of Police Hubbard says that Thomas Desmond, an Irish Nationalist of San Francisco, who is suspected of complicity in the Cronin murder, and who is said to have given New York detectives the slip a few days ago, has been located in San Francisco and hands can be laid on him whenever he is wanted. It is alleged that Desmond registered at McCoy's Hotel in this city on April 16, and that between that date and April 21 when he left the hotel, he held numerous conferences with the man who registered as "Melville," but who is believed to be Maroney, now under arrest in New York.

A MYSTERIOUS ARREST.

Chief Hubbard received a dispatch this afternoon announcing the arrest of a mysterious individual, who is believed to be badly wanted in connection with the Cronin case. The Chief would say nothing about the capture, except that the fellow resembled Frank Williams, one of the men who rented the Carlson cottage.

Maroney and McDonald.

RK, June 13.—Inspector Byrnes said g that he had received word from o authorities that the officers from y to take charge of the prisoners, Ma- nd McDonald, now in the Tombs and rrest for an alleged connection with Cronin murder case, would be in the y to-night with the necessary requisition apers. Argument is to be made in the Supreme Court to-morrow morning on the writs of habeas corpus in behalf of Maroney and McDonald.

THE WORK OF FIENDS.

An Attempt to Wreck the Wabash Vestibule Train Near Chicago.

CHICAGO, Ill., June 13.—An attempt was made last night to wreck the Wabash, St. Louis & Pacific vestibule train which left here at 9 o'clock for St. Louis. The scene of the attempt was a culvert about sixty-five miles from Chicago. Ties were wedged in the culvert in such a way that they stood about half a foot above the track. The engine struck the obstruction but did not leave the track and no harm was done.

AMONG THE BROKERS.

Decline in West Granite—Stocks Sold and Prices Obtained.

Trading on the Mining Exchange was heavy this morning, and a large amount of stock changed hands.

The most marked feature of the day's trading was the fall that took place in West Granite. This stock opened decidedly lower than yesterday's closing prices, 100 shares bringing 76¼. This proved to be the highest quotation of the day, as, in spite of large purchases, the price steadily declined. At 75 a stand was made and a large amount of stock was bought in, but sellers still came to the front, and after 1,700 shares had been transferred the bidding dropped to 73¾. At that figure 1,600 shares were transferred without checking the decline, large blocks being offered. Buyers were plenty and 2,200 shares changed hands; but this did not exhaust the stock, and the market closed with offers at 72½, bids of 71¼ for small amounts being made, and 70 being bid for the stock in 1,000 share lots.

There were no new developments, but it was generally admitted that some legal complications had arisen which would certainly seriously delay and might entirely prevent the transfer of the property to the Granite Mountain syndicate. What the nature of the alleged informalities were could not be learned, but those interested in the sale were confident that the deal would be consummated, although it might be necessary to take another vote.

Major Budd made a decidedly sensational advance. The market opened at 20 asked, but just before the close of trading 200 shares brought this figure, and Mullally began to bid the stock up. At 25 he bought 1,000 shares; 26¼ was paid for the same amount, and 1,000 sold at 27½. Mullally afterwards offered the stock at 26¼ in 1,000-share lots.

Golden Era was 30 bid, 33¾ asked; 1,500 Mary Foster brought 1½; 100 Little Giant sold at 20; Cariboo was 13 bid; 300 Adams sold at 35; Gold King was 40 asked; Golden West was offered at $1.20; I. X. L. was 14 asked, 13½ bid; 500 'Frisco brought 33¾, the stock closing at 32½ bid; 300 Small Hopes brought $1.17½; Phillips was 57½ bid, 68¾ asked; 1,100 Tourtelotte brought 20, closing at 21¼ bid; Neath was 20 bid.

The demand for money was good, loans being made at 6 per cent. New York Exchange, 80 cents premium; clearances, $3,573,578; balances, $657,932.

THE RESERVOIR DAM BROKE.

Fatal Runaway Accident—A Miner Sacrifices His Life—Casualties.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

TYLER, Tex., June 13.—One of the heaviest rains ever known in this vicinity fell here last night doing great damage to the growing cotton crop. The dam of the ter-works reservoir, about one mile south of Tyler, broke, letting loose a mass of water covering about fifteen acres. Fences, crops, etc., in its course were entirely devastated. The loss to the owners of the water-works can hardly be estimated as it will be some time before a sufficient supply of water can be had to supply the city. The dam of the large fish pond, in course of construction, and owned by the Tyler Piscatorial Club, also broke, but did no damage. The loss will amount to about $2,000. The work of rebuilding both began this morning.

Mangled by Machinery.

LUCAS, Mich., June 13.—T. C. Munroe, employed at Eppert's mill, caught his coat sleeve in the cog wheels of the machinery yesterday. He called for help, and two men ran to his aid. They grabbed him around the body and called for somebody to stop the machinery. The warning was not heeded and Munroe was gradually dragged into and through the machinery and his body reduced to a shapeless pulp. The remains were scraped together, coffined and sent to Coral, where the man had four small, motherless children.

BALTIMORE, Md., June 13.—A collision between two freight trains near Havre de Grace, on the Philadelphia division of the Baltimore & Ohio yesterday resulted in the instant killing of Joseph McKean, brakeman, and the wrecking of several cars, two of them loaded with provisions for Johnstown sufferers. It is claimed by train hands that the telegraph operator was at fault in giving wrong signals.

THE NATIONAL CAPITAL.

COL. VAN HORN TAKES A HAND IN THE KANSAS CITY FIGHT.

The Editor Helping Himself and Dr. Fitzpatrick for Appointment—Representative Kinsey Detained by Business for His Constituents—Mrs. Harrison Goes to Cape May—Presidential Appointments—Washington News.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 13.—There will be a revival of Kansas City political matters now, since Col. R. L. Van Horn has put in an appearance at the Capital. The Colonel is not disposed to meddle with anything outside of his own town, but would like to do something for his old friends, Dr. Fitzpatrick for Surveyor of the Port, and Col. R. Hunt for Collector. In the contest for United States Marshal for the Western District, it is said the Kansas City people will let Mr. Wade of the Southwest have full sway, although some of the country people are making strenuous efforts against his favorite, Col. Tracy of Springfield. Col. Van Horn shuns the politicians who would be glad of his influence, which is something with men like Secretary Windom who served in Congress with him, and the appointments of Collector and Surveyor come before him.

Though Representative Kinsey has wanted to go West for some time, he has been pressed so by applications of all kinds that, up to date, his time has been constantly consumed in giving them attention. This morning he intimated to his friends that he would leave here for St. Louis in a day or two.

The business which Hon. Matt Reynolds came here to look after he has about completed, but the probabilities are that he will take his departure to-morrow afternoon for his home.

Maj. J. B. Upton of the Sedalia District said this morning that he had about got through with smaller matters here and was now endeavoring to have a few presidential appointments fixed up. Among the consular places he feels interested in securing is that occupied by E. C. Moore of Missouri as Consul-General to Mexico. By right of succession Maj. Upton thinks his district should be represented there by a Republican.

The Chief of the Bureau of Statistics, Col. Switzler, has returned to his duties here.

Maj. Brock is still here, wanting to succeed to that position and is also doing departmental work for Hon. Mr. Posegate, who was defeated for Congress in the St. Joseph District.

Geo. W. Parker of St. Louis is a late arrival here.

Col. Frank Nesbitt, late Chief Clerk of the Agricultural Bureau is here looking after Representative Heard's affairs during his absence in Missouri.

The Bayard-Clymer Nuptials.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 13.—The wedding of ex-Secretary Bayard and Miss Clymer did not take place yesterday. Some mischievous person fixed it for yesterday at St. John's Church in this city, and the newspapers generally made the announcement, which was wrong and had never been authorized. Many persons went to St. John's and were disappointed to find that Mr. Bayard was not there to be married. Mrs. Clymer told the POST-DISPATCH correspondent to-day that no date had yet been fixed for the wedding, and Dr. Leonard, the pastor of St. John's, who has recently been elected Bishop of Ohio, said that the date for the wedding had not yet been made known to him. Mr. Bayard is not in Washington.

Consul Stanwood's Slayer.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 13.—The State Department has received a cipher cablegram stating that Capt. Duverge, a former Baltimorean, who shot and killed Consul Stanwood at Andakale, on the Island of Madagascar, is now prisoner on board the United States man-of-war Swatara, and together with all the witnesses of the affair, is being taken to Tamata, Madagascar. At this point Mr. John Campbell is Consul, and Capt. Duverge will probably be tried before him. It must be confessed that the State Department's knowledge of the entire case remains as meagre to-day as it was when the shooting first occurred. Indeed, Chief Clerk Fenner Lee said yesterday that everything was very "hazy." The department is not entirely convinced that Consul Campbell has jurisdiction.

Strictly Non-Partisan.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 13.—With a view of eradicating the belief that only Republicans need apply at the civil service examination to be held in Nashville, Tenn., next Saturday, the Civil Service Commission sent out the following announcement: "All examinations held under its auspices are strictly non-partisan in character. All qualified persons are requested to apply, whether Democrats or Republicans. They will be examined, marked and certified purely with reference to their capacity. Political considerations will be allowed no weight whatever. The commission is determined to enforce the law in its letter and spirit; any employe of the Government violating it will be most rigorously punished."

To Spend $80,000 Experimenting.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 13.—Congress appropriated $100,000 last year to be used by the Department of Agriculture in experimenting with sorghum cane to produce sugar. Less than $15,000 of the appropriation has been spent, and Secretary Rusk yesterday decided to spend the entire amount this year experimenting at the places here named: Rio Grande, N. J., $7,500; Morrisville, $7,500; Kenner, La., $5,000; Meade Center, Kan., $12,000; Conway Springs, Kan., $8,000; Attica, Kan., $6,000; Medicine Lodge, Kan., $6,000; Ness City, Kan., $4,000; Sterling, Kan., experiment station, $2,500; Cedar Falls, Io., experiment station, $5,000; general chemical control and direction, $15,000.

Steamboat Inspector Appointed.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 13.—The President to-day made the following appointment:

MARK D. FLOWER of Minnesota to be Supervising Inspector of Steam Vessels for the Fifth District, St. Paul, Minn. Mr. Flower succeeds Geo. Hayes, removed. He is a veteran of the war and is an old steamboat captain. He had the office for six years and was the first officer of the Steamboat Inspection Service removed by President Cleveland. He is a personal friend of Secretary Windom.

Mrs. Harrison Goes to Cape May.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 13.—Mrs. Harrison, accompanied by her father, Dr. Scott, and her two grandchildren and their nurses, left Washington at 9:30 o'clock this morning for a two weeks' visit to Cape May. They will occupy the cottage of Postmaster-General Wanamaker, which has been specially prepared for their use. It is probable the President will make them a short visit next week.

THE "TOBACCO TRUST."

What the Lorillards Have to Say About the Scheme.

NEW YORK, June 13.—The St. Louis dispatch in regard to the formation of a tobacco trust was looked upon with skepticism at the office of P. Lorillard & Co., in Jersey City this afternoon. "I know nothing about it," said a member of the firm to a reporter. "All we have heard from Mr. Lorillard is a telegram announcing that he will return home on Saturday. What action Mr. Lorillard has taken we are not likely to know here until his return."

The gentleman admitted that if a $25,000,000 syndicate had been formed as alleged in the dispatch from St. Louis he would in all probability have heard of it. Mr. Lorillard's associate in business said that his concern had been in the habit of selling their tobaccos to Western jobbers at a certain price, an agreement having been made with the jobbers at the time of sale. They sell the goods to retailers at a given price, which in the present instance is an increase of 4 cents per pound. The so-called anti-trust bill passed by the Legislature in the States of Missouri, Texas, Iowa and Kansas, made these contracts between the wholesalers and jobbers illegal as the law is now construed.

"The purpose of Mr. Lorillard's visit to St. Louis," said his partner, "was to devise means, if possible, wherepy jobbers can handle our goods. Of course, all sorts of rumors will be circulated, but there is no truth in the story, so far as I know."

A member of the firm of Mr. Lorillard's legal advisers in this city said they had heard nothing of the proposed syndicate. If such a thing had transpired they would be likely to know of it.

OPEN TENNIS TOURNAMENT.

Preliminaries and First Round for the Simmons Prize—Drawing of Tournament.

The open tournament tendered by the sporting department of the Simmons Hardware Co., free to all players of St. Louis City and County, began this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the grounds of the Knickerbocker Lawn Tennis Club, at Nineteenth street and Lucas place. The courts are in excellent trim, and on account of the number of entries and the class of players taking part good sport may certainly be expected. This tournament is not a regular Knickerbocker tourney, and on this account the winner will not be entitled to compete for the challenge diamond medal at present held by Mr. Wayman Cushman, but the final result of the present contest will go far toward establishing the probable holder of the badge. A number of players not members of the Knickerbocker have taken advantage of the open feature of the contest and entered and the rivalry existing between clubs and outside players will lend interest to the games. The preliminaries and a large part of the first round will be played off this afternoon and play continued on Friday at 3 o'clock and the finals completed on Saturday at the same hour. In the finals the best three out of five sets will be decisive and in all others the best two out of three. The following is the drawing: Beall and bye, Wade and McKittrick, Wickham and bye, Garnett and bye, Webster and Allen, Reyburn and bye, Primm and bye, Simpkins and bye, Burr and Boyd, Davis and bye, Edmunds and bye, Cushman and Pratt, Brookmire and Hall.

Mastering a Language.

Mr. R. L. Stevenson tells a story of one of his friends, a worthy blacksmith in Wales, who, having heard a little of the story of Robinson Crusoe, became possessed with a determination to read the entire book. He could find no edition of it in Welsh, which was the only language he knew; but he did find an English copy, and then he learned the English language in order to read it. Devotion to a purpose is certainly an admirable quality, even if the object of it be only the reading of a story.

An even more interesting example of the acquisition of a language for the sake of reading a single book is reported from Japan.

More than thirty years ago, when Japan was closed to foreigners—only one nation, the Dutch, having a slight foothold on the coast—there was in that country a native physician, Sho-Wo Murakami by name, who desired to extend his knowledge of the sciences. In the house of a Dutch family he found a copy of a treatise on chemistry by Thenard, a French chemist. This book the doctor set about mastering.

But how was he to read it? He knew not French; there was no one to teach him, nor was there so much as a French-Japanese dictionary in the country.

After considerable search Murakami found a French-Dutch dictionary. He knew a little Dutch already, and enlarged his knowledge by study. Then he began, word by word, to puzzle out the French treatise on chemistry, first translating each word into Dutch, and then into Japanese.

In order to master a language, however, it is not enough to get at the meaning of each word separately. Some knowledge of the grammar is essential. Murakami obtained a French grammar and worked at that and his Dutch lexicon for three years.

At last he achieved his end, and by this time he was quite as much devoted to the study of the French language and literature and institutions as he was to the science of chemistry. For his use in his studies he had made for himself a French-Japanese dictionary, and this he published. He had the acquaintance of several public men and inspired them with an interest in European science and institutions which helped not a little in the development of Western ideas in Japan.

Murakami founded a French school at Tokio. He is still living, at the age of 82, and is known in Japan as the "father of the French language." The French Government has made him chevalier of the Legion of Honor.

Such an example may well be taken to heart by students who, with every advantage, find it burdensome to learn a foreign language, even though it be closely allied to their own. An American student may realize the difficulties of Murakami's task by imagining what it would be if he were required to master the Chinese language by means of a German-Chinese lexicon.

Proficiency at the Harvard "Annex."

From the Worcester Spy Cambridge Letter.

The Annex is not a part of Harvard College, nor even of Harvard University. It is entirely a private organization, with its own Academic Board and Executive Committee. Beyond borrowing a few of the Harvard professors it has asked few favors of the university. Its real relation to the college is indicated by its official name, for "Annex" is a mere convenient nickname. It is properly called "The Society for the Collegiate Instruction of Women by Professors and Other Instructors of Harvard College." All the instructors at the Annex are instructors in college, but all the Harvard instructors do not teach at the Annex.

The standard of scholarship at the Annex is probably higher than that of any other college for women in this country; for the courses of study, with few exceptions, correspond exactly to those given in Harvard College, and the same examinations, at the same times, are taken for entrance and during the college course. Our instructors never complain that the work of the Annex students is not as well done as that of men. Indeed, this year Dr. Hart paid his Annex class the extraordinary compliment of giving it "A" all round, as mid-year marks in History 13. He also wrote a note of praise to the Secretary. "A" is the highest mark attainable in any given course of study.

This Year's Harvard Stroke.

From the Boston Advertiser.

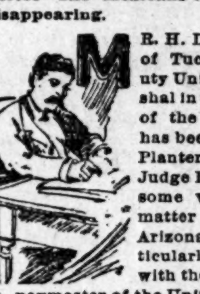

The annual Harvard-Yale race comes off at New London, June 28. Since the Harvard crew has been quite definitely chosen, the main feature of discussion seems to be the new stroke which Capt. Herrick and Messrs. Storrow and Brooks, who have been coaching the eight, have introduced, and which the men have taken up for all there is in it. The all-arm stroke went out of use some years ago, likewise the theory system stroke, and at last a captain of Harvard's crew has gotten down to the sensible idea of using a stroke at which a man may last for the longest number of miles and cover those miles in the speediest possible manner.

It is the simplest stroke which can be rowed. The reach is not far forward, as it has been stated, nor does it fall far back of the perpendicular, although some further than in the stroke used last year. The water is caught more quickly and the stroke pulled more firmly and swiftly through the length, finishing with a long, clean sweep and a moment's pause before the oars again catch the water. There is no decided point of pressure in the stroke. It is intended to be everywhere alike powerful and is made considerable shorter and slower for this reason. The crew scarcely ever row above the rate of thirty-four to the minute, and during the last half of the race on the Charles the other day the stroke even dropped to thirty-two per minute.

A NEW CLASS IN ARIZONA

THE HIGHWAYMEN WHO ROBBED MAJ. WHAM NOT OF A LAWLESS CLASS.

Disposition of the People to Enforce the Law and Build Up a Name for the Territory—St. Louis Capital as an Important Factor—The Mexicans and Half-Breeds Disappearing.

MR. H. D. UNDERWOOD of Tucson, Ariz., Deputy United States Marshal in the southern part of the Territory, who has been stopping at the Planters', the guest of Judge R. F. Cleary, gives some very interesting matter in relation to Arizona affairs, and particularly in connection with the robbery of Maj. Wham, paymaster of the United States Army, and the arrest of the men concerned in the robbery. Mr. Underwood has seen a great many years of service in the territory and is well qualified to speak, both as to the past and present.

"It is a mistake to suppose," he said, "that Arizona is overrun by lawless classes and that life or property is in any way any more unsafe there than in any other part of the country. The robbery of Maj. Wham, for instance, would be set down as the act of an organized band of highwaymen composed of desperate men who would commit murder for a dollar. But that is very far from being the case. The men engaged in that outrage had no idea of committing murder, and it would take considerable study to satisfy oneself just exactly what the motive of the robbery was. The men didn't want for money, as they all have plenty of it. They are not among what would ordinarily be called the lawless element of a new country. In fact, they are all

and you need not be surprised if the leader of the band is found to be the owner of a herd of 1,000 or 1,500 head of cattle. Such a man would not go into an attack of this kind for money alone, though, of course, they expect to get it, and I cannot imagine anything moving them to the robbery except a desire for excitement. There were none of what is ordinarily called the cowboy among the gang, and though a number of arrests will still probably be made, I doubt if you will find many who work for wages or a salary. That they did not intend to murder is shown by the manner in which they hailed Maj. Wham and his escort. The military were passing through a narrow pass and the highwaymen were above them in a commanding position. They thought when the soldiers saw how they were situated they would recognize the helplessness of their position, the folly of defense and simply

LAY DOWN THEIR ARMS.

So they called to them that they would not shoot and they had no idea of shooting, I am satisfied. The soldiers, however, were not made of that kind of stuff. They did want to shoot, and shoot they did. Of course the highwaymen returned the fire and made things pretty warm. While I say these men are men of means and standing and could not have gone into the robbery simply because they wanted the money, they cannot have the support of the people among whom they live. They must be recognized as vicious, whatever their object may have been, and as the people of Arizona are anxious to build up a good name there will be none of the local support given these men that was given to the James boys in their country, and that assisted them to continue their train-robbing without fear of the penitentiary. There is none of that that I know of in Arizona. On the contrary, the people are generally desirous of assisting in enforcing the laws. Of course, Arizona has suffered by reason of the

and is just beginning to recover from the effect of the reign of terror caused by the former. The half-breeds, the Mexicans and Indians both, are not as bad and vicious as painted. There are very bad people among them just as there are among all classes and races, but as a whole their worst characteristic is laziness. They do not want to work and won't work if they can avoid it, and they can generally avoid it, as they can live on what would seems to us to be nothing. In watermelon season, for example, a regiment of them can live a week on an ordinary sized melon-patch. Melons that are melons grow in Arizona, too. I know one old couple, very pleasant people, who have sixteen children and who live on melons in the season. The old woman gets up in the morning, the rising generation arouses itself, she goes out and secures a melon approaching the size of a flour barrel, calls her tribe around her, and then, holding the melon above her head, lets it fall to the ground. It breaks to pieces, each of the children grab a section, and they are all happy. That is their meal, and almost their only diet, as they seldom take anything else but a mixture of coarse meal or fat meat once a day. The Mexican and half-breed, however, are giving way to other classes. New people are coming in, and more than all else in the building up of a new Arizona. Three irrigating canal companies, formed in this city, and each backed by large capital, are carrying through some of the biggest enterprises of that character known. They have pushed the work in every direction very rapidly, and they have already almost completely transformed the country adjacent to the Gila River. The work now in hand is not far from completion, but I understand it will still be pushed much further. The capital invested is large, but the venture will be a very profitable one, as it will make a perfect garden out of the irrigated territory. In addition to this a higher power seems to be smiling on us. Our wet season is now more generously distributed over the twelve months of the year, and as a result our agricultural and cattle industries are thriving as they never did before. The cattle ranges particularly are good, and the ranch owners are taking advantage of it to hold their stock and to improve its grade. They have progressed already so that you see but very few of the old long horns now."

ST. LOUIS IS A LEADING FACTOR

LONE WOMEN.

Some Speculations as to the Significance of Dorothy Apartments.

From the Boston Courier.

In New York they have coined the term "Dorothy Apartments" to designate the feminine of bachelor apartments. The custom of living alone, unchaperoned and unsuspected, is increasing to a surprising extent among youngish women in that city. They enjoy the freedom which this gives them; they are, of course, for the most part people who are not scrupulous in the exact observance of the conventionalties of social ettiquette, and once it has been proved that the thing can be done, and the darling girl who ventures to do it remain respectable, the custom is sure to spread rapidly. It is one of those steps which conservatives will be sure to deplore, and it is hardly to be supposed that many people will at present be glad to have their women kind adopt this ultra style of life. It is a step, however, that had to come, and it is one to be commended on the score of common sense and justice. There is likely to be little harm come from it. The girl who is vicious will be so under the present order, and the new conditions will simply allow her to free herself from the disagreeable necessity of some falsehood. As by far the vast majority of American women are quite as well able to take care of themselves as any one is to take care of them, it is only justice to give them their freedom. The whole situation is of course one of the features of the general movement among women which is one of the features of the century. It has resulted in the overthrow of religion, or, more properly speaking, it has been the most powerful factor in the overthrow of religion, and it is not impossible that when the pendulum of belief shall again swing towards faith the retirement of women from her present public position will follow as a matter of course. However this may be, it is well now to recognize that the old system of life has gone by for at least our generation and will not be again taken up until women the elves desire it, as sooner or later they sure ill.

TYPE-SETTING MACHINES.

The Probable Effect Their Use Will Have on Printers.

From the National Printer.

There seems to be an uneasy feeling among compositors about type-setting machines. It is true that only three of the many recently invented are at practical work, but all of them give a promise of usefulness, if not in all fields, at least in some field of composition. It is certain that the machines have come to stay. Compositors fear that they will reduce the price of labor, and will indirectly drive them out of business. Much of this disquietude is unnecessary. That type-setting machines may or will reduce the cost of the work on reprints and cheap books and papers is probable. That they will ever drive any large body of good workmen out of business is absurd. The machines will surely make mork work for workmen. So far from decreasing the standard of workmanship, they will elevate it. This conclusion is warranted by a review of the changes in the trade made by inventions in another department—that of presswork. Instead of driving hand pressmen out of the trade, the printing machines have really brought more pressmen in it, and have enabled an employer to pay them better wages. The machines have not even driven good hand pressmen out. In all our large cities the expert hand pressman is in active demand. He does but one-half the labor of his predecessor, yet he is paid twice as much and has steadier work. For some forms of printing the hand press is more economical than any machine, and if there were more men who could use them skillfully they would be more generally employed. They are not used because it is difficult for an employer to get a boy to learn this branch of presswork. He objects because the work is hard. Not even for double or treble the old pay will a pressman in 1889 undertake to do on a hand-press the work done by all pressmen in 1840. The journeyman book compositor of New York, who works by the piece, now earns an advance of 75 per cent on the rates of fifty years ago. The time hand gets twice as much. Expert machine pressmen in the larger New York book offices are paid $20 and $22 a week—an advance of more than 100 per cent. If they are specially skillful or active, they are cheerfully paid a good deal more. They have steady employment and comparatively easy work. It should be noted that the highest wages are always paid in those offices that have the most and best machinery. Low wages are the rule almost without exception in all offices that have little or no machinery. Instead of throwing men out of work, machinery has made a demand for more work. Instead of lowering the labor wage it has raised it.

Peculiar Yankee Bathing Customs.

From a Boston Letter.

There is no place where more eccentric ideas of propriety are found than in New England. Take bathing as an illustration. At Crescent Beach and other popular resorts in the neighborhood of Boston on any fine summer day you will find plenty of female excursionists who are their own bath-houses, so to speak. That is to say, these fair but economical creatures bring long waterproofs with them, and, putting them on, disrobe unobtrusively beneath them on the open beach. Beneath their ordinary clothing they usually wear their bathing-suits down to the shore, and so are finally seen to emerge from the protecting mackintoshes fully equipped for a plunge in the ocean. When they come out they put on the mackintoshes again, drop the wet garments beneath them, and, having reassumed in like manner their every garb, become once more visible.

No gem save Garnets should be worn,
They will insure her constancy,
True friendship and fidelity.

February.
The February born shall find
Sincerity and peace of mind,
Freedom from passion and from care,
If they the Amethyst will wear.

March.
Who on this world of ours their eyes
In March first open shall be wise,
In days of peril firm and brave,
And wear a Bloodstone to their grave.

April.
She who from April dates her years
Diamonds should wear, lest bitter tears
For vain repentance flow; this stone,
Emblem of innocence, is known.

May.
Who first beholds the light of day
In spring's sweet flowery month of Ma
And wears an Emerald all her life,
Shall be a loved and happy wife.

June.
Who comes with summer to this earth,
And owes to June her hour of birth,
With rings of Agate on her hand
Can health, wealth and long life command.

July.
The glowing Ruby shall adorn
Those who in warm July are born;
Then will they be exempt and free
From love's doubts and anxiety.

August.
Wear a Sardonyx, or for thee
No conjugal felicity;
The August born without this stone,
'Tis said, must live unloved and lone.

September.
A maiden born when autumn leaves
Are rustling in September's breeze,
A Sapphire on her brow should bind,
'Twill cure diseases of the mind.

October.
October's child is born for woe,
And life's vicissitudes must know;
But lay an Opal on her breast
And hope will lull those words to rest.

November.
Who first comes to this world below
With drear November's fog and snow
Should prize the Topaz' amber hue,
Emblem of friends and lovers true.

December.
If cold December gave you birth,
The month of snow and ice and mirth,
Place on your hand a Turquoise blue,
Success will bless whate'er you do.

THE favorable settlement of the Union Market improvement question will improve the record of the week for the Municipal Assembly.

ST. LOUIS has raised over $13,000 for the Conemaugh sufferers and has no committee to bring back the money. Chicago papers will please make a note of this.

INDIANA and Tennessee, too, enjoyed lynching bees yesterday, and both resulted in double executions. A joint resolution not to throw stones is in order in all the States.

AN expedition for the relief of STANLEY seems to be in order. The latest reports from the explorer indicate that he got into bad straits after leaving the protecting care of EMIN PASHA.

NOT a single argument against the proposed improvement of Union Market has been brought forward. This ought to double the strength of the arguments in its favor before the Municipal Assembly.

DOUBTLESS the key to the presidential judiciary policy which Judge SANDFORD of Utah was removed for not following is furnished by the conduct of Judge WOODS who is to be promoted. It is, "Let every Republican rascal escape."

PREPARATIONS are making in many places for an extraordinary celebration of the coming Fourth of July. St. Louisans should utilize their grand park for a glorious commemoration in this jubilee year. The time for preparation is becoming short.

THE facts about the wreck of excursion cars near Armagh, Ireland, indicate on their face remarkable stupidity on the part of the train officials. Nothing but excessive blockheadism would attempt to block car wheels with stones or would leave loaded cars on a track with another train following in the rear.

A HOT discusion as to the practicability of executing criminals by electricity is now in progress in New York. If one of the debaters will let an electric light wire drop on him he will give a demonstration of the efficiency of electricity as an executioner which will be entirely satisfactory to his surviving friends.

ON the question of abolishing the poll-tax as a suffrage qualification 45 Democrats and 41 Republicans voted yea in the Massachusetts House. Of the 101 members in favor of maintaining the tax qualification 100 were Republicans. Only one of the 46 Democrats was in favor of fining a poor man for voting.

GEN. CROOK seems to have straightened out the negotiations with the Sioux, and the reports from the reservation indicate that the treaty will be signed by a sufficient number to assure the opening of the lands. Thus another large tract of new land for settlement will be added to the Northwest territory. The proposed negotiations with the Cherokees, however, are still hanging fire.

THE reported intention of England and Canada to strongly fortify Esquimault, in British Columbia, thus securing a strong hold in the Northern Pacific, has more significance on the Behring Sea controversy than anything the British authorities have done heretofore. Still there is no reason that this intention should be interpreted as a menace to the interests of the United States, because Great Britain will find plenty of use for a safe and convenient naval station in that region.

A TERRITORY is in a bad way when its Judiciary, removable at the will of the President, are required to run the courts in accordance with the undefined policy of an Administration at Washington rather than in accordance with the law. Attorney-General MILLER's letter to Chief Justice SANDFORD of Utah, announcing the reason for the latter's removal, is a remarkable document. It seems to take a novel, not to say startling, view of the relations of United States Judges in the Territories to the law and to the Executive Department at Washington.

THE agitation for local inspection of beef cattle, ostensibly for the protection of the consumer, but really for the protection of the home producer, is bearing fruit abroad of a kind which will not be appreciated by American producers. There is a movement in England looking to the adoption of inspection laws which will shut out American beef. It is solely in the interest of the British butchers and beef growers, but the argument in its favor is hypocritically based on the protection of the consumer from diseased meats. And the argument is based on American charges against American beef.

KANSAS maintains her lead as the banner lynching State by a majority in full proportion to that which she rolls up for prohibition and the Republican ticket. No other State capital in the Union has such a lynching record as Topeka. No negroes have been lynched there this year, but a white murderer was taken out of jail and hung the other day without any form of trial. Clay County, in the same State, hung PAT CLEARY the day before because a jury disagreed and failed to find him guilty of murder, and a Jefferson County mob lynched CHARLES LARKINS last Sunday because he refused to confess that he stole a watch that had disappeared from his employer's house.

THE declaration of Chief ARTHUR of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers that he will never sanction another strike must result in a test of opinion among the engineers on the strike question, which will be both interesting and important. The locomotive engineers represent skilled and intelligent labor of the highest order. Their policy has been opposed to strikes except when all other means of redressing wrongs failed, and they were considered invincible until the Burlington strike. Should the Chief's declaration receive the support of the order the result cannot fail to have a strong influence on other labor organizations. But the success of the principle depends largely on the spirit in which it is received by employers.

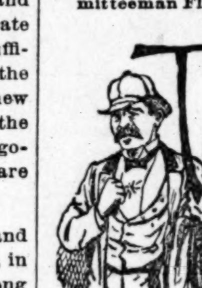

JOHN HOUGHTON, the colored porter of the Pennsylvania train wrecked at Johnstown, aided Mrs. HALFORD, the wife of the President's private secretary, to escape, and has been rewarded by appointment as a messenger in the Treasury Department. HOUGHTON doubtless acted nobly and should be rewarded, but is it right that the personal obligation of the HALFORDS should be paid by the Government? Many conspicuous acts of generous courage were performed at Johnstown, but the only man rewarded with office was the man who helped Mrs. HALFORD. We do not object to the reward of bravery even by the Government, but we do object to the use of the offices as the personal property of the Administration for the payment of private obligations. It savors of monarchy and is opposed to the principles of our government.

A FRIEND in office can do a great deal towards quietly straightening crooked tracks and covering up the delinquencies of a predecessor. When a Judge suspends a clerk of his court, pending an investigation of alleged misfeasance or failure to turn over fees due the State, it may be lawful, since the Court of Appeals so declares, for the Governor to arrange with the accused clerk for the latter's protection by the appointment of his brother-in-law as his successor in office. But it is an unseemly thing for a Governor to do, and sets a bad precedent. If there is no crookedness to hide in this case, why are the Governor and the two brothers-in-law making such an energetic fight against the placing of the clerkship, even temporarily, in charge of a person appointed by the Circuit Judge? Co... the Governor find no oth... ...son but the brother-in-... ...fficer?

A PLEADING POLITICIAN.

DELEGATE JULIUS LEHMANN ARRAIGNED IN COURT TO-DAY.

The Previous Engagement of His Attorney Secures Him a Postponement of Trial on a Charge of Taking False Oaths to Secure Citizen's Papers for Foreigners—Committeeman Fleming—Legislative Bills.

THE engagement of Mr. D. P. Dyer, Delegate Julius Lehmann's attorney in the trial of a case in the State Circuit Court, was made the cause of a postponement of the criminal case in the Federal Court to-day. Quite a number of politicians gathered in the United States District Court this morning in expectation of hearing the trial of Lehmann on a charge of falsely swearing to the qualifications of foreigners applying for naturalization papers. When the court called for motions from the Government, District Attorney Reynolds said he would give way to Mr. Dyer, attorney for Lehmann and Neibert. Mr. Dyer, addressing the Court, stated that on Tuesday he had entered into the trial of the Standard Theater case in Circuit Court room No. 5, and that the hearing had lengthened out beyond expectation. The District Attorney said that under the circumstances he would consent to a postponement of the case, which Judge Thayer said he would hear on next Monday.

District Attorney Reynolds asked if the defense would be ready to try the case against Lehmann on next Saturday. Lehmann's attorney said he would probably be disengaged by Saturday, and ready for a trial. Judge Thayer instructed the Clerk to set the trial down for next Monday. District Attorney Reynolds asked if the other cases against Lehmann and Neibert might not be docketed for the same day, so that no further time would be lost should either side not be ready in the first case. Judge Thayer remarked that there was no use docketing for any date more cases than can be disposed of in one day. After some little discussion the Court ordered the case to be set down for next Monday and the witnesses discharged until that date. Shortly after the announcement was made the District Attorney moved the list of witnesses summoned for to-day be called, but Judge Thayer objected, as many persons had passed out subsequent to the announcement of the discharge of witnesses. He informed the District Attorney that attachments would be issued on Monday for any of the witnesses who failed to answer when called.

Lehmann was on hand to-day and seemed greatly disturbed over the proceedings. Every move to-day was earnest, and the indications are that the defendant will have to stand trial on Monday. The defendant had a right to expect that some of the prominent Republicans who benefited by the results of the November election would come forward, but if he banked his hopes on this he has been disappointed.

The Grand-jury is now in session and receiving reports of the force of special assistants retained by the District Attorney. They are watching the parties suspected of complicity, and it is probable Lehmann will have to go to trial on his first case on next Monday, to stand the first fire of the Government.

Room for a New Leader.

Who carried the Twenty-sixth Ward for Noonan? That's the question which has dislodged the new City Hall project, the Union Market arcade, electric lighting and other problems from the minds of the city fathers. Fred Young claims the credit, while many friends accord the honor to Frank Mahon of Castle Mahon on Florissant avenue. Both the Twenty-sixth Ward leaders have, however, fallen out with the Mayor. Just before Mayor Allen went out of office Young had a man appointed on the force of sprinkling inspectors. When Mayor Noonan came to reorganize the force Young's man was dropped. Frank Mahon had an unpleasant experience or thought he had. Ordinarily Mayor Noonan is as approachable as a town pump, but he is sometimes engaged on business which will not suffer interruption. A few days ago, while at work in the inside office, he instructed his secretary to deny him to all callers. Among the visitors was Frank Mahon, who failed to get an audience and who, in a lengthy and bitterly complaining epistle, the next day communicated his sentiments to the Mayor. There is room for a new leader in the Twenty-sixth.

Committeeman Fleming's Case.

The Democratic City Committee has a knotty case in hand. John C. Fleming represents the Twenty-first Ward in that body, but at the election held in the ward a few days ago to elect a member of the House of Delegates, Fleming, in defiance of the committee's resolution, supported John Leishman, who was an independent candidate against the regular nominee. Fleming has no defense to offer as to the regularity of the nomination. Blanke was the original nominee and tied the vote with the Republican candidate. He was voted the nomination by the committee with very little opposition, but Fleming, who wanted a primary election held brought out Leishman as an independent candidate. The question now arises, what shall be done with Fleming for his conduct. It is reported that Fleming will solve the problem by resigning, but as yet he has not taken any action. Some of the independent members of the committee are in favor of calling a meeting at once and ousting the kicking committeeman whose Democracy has been repeatedly questioned.

The New Inspector of Mines.

Hon. W. C. Hall, named by the Governor for Inspector of Mines and Factories, under an act passed by the last Legislature, is a member of the present Legislature, representing Randolph County. He is a son of ex-member of Congress W. A. Hall of this State, and a nephew of ex-Gov. W. P. Hall. Mr. Hall has been engaged in farming and stock-raising, and is at present Mayor of Huntsville. He is a man of means and local influence. Representative Holland expected this position. His zeal and activity in passing the bill creating the office and in obtaining a large and unusual appropriation for the Bureau of Labor Statistics and Inspection and his fitness for the position, it was supposed, entitled him to the consideration of being appointed to the position in preference to one who, Holland's friends claim, knows nothing whatever of its duties.

The Governor's Option.

Senator McGrath says: "Should the omnibus bill in relation to cities, towns and villages, passed by the Legislature, be approved by the Governor it will knock out the Devoy Justice of the Peace act. The cities, towns and village act provides for another and different way of electing the justices, dividing the districts, etc., in St. Louis. In fact this bill recites the present law on the subject, and should it become the law by re-enactment, repeals the Devoy act, for the reason that it will be the most recent enactment and hence the law. The non-approval of this act by the Governor will also leave the law in reference to the Recorder of Voters of St. Louis the same as now, the election law of St. Louis having been inadvertently or ignorantly included in the bill relating to cities, towns and villages." These are only a few of the many mistakes and blunders of the last General Assembly.

Judge Barclay a Dissenter.

In the batch of cases reported by the Supreme Court on Monday last Judge Barclay dissented in three of them, and also dissented in the order made by the court making City Marshal Neiser a party to the mandamus proceedings instituted by Emile Thomas against Recorder of Voters Williams. The new Judge will, it is expected, modify and change some of the ruling heretofore made by this court on several points of law, and particularly in political cases which went up from the St. Louis Circuit Courts.

The Sparks Bill in Danger.

The bill in reference to cities, towns and villages ... awaiting Gov. Francis' attention ... provisions in it regulating ... manner of election in the cities and towns of the State. Should this bill be signed by the Governor it is the opinion of many that it will render the Sparks act, providing for the Australian system of voting, null and void. The point will be an important one for the Governor's consideration.

Filley Fails to Get In.

The Irish American Republican Club met last night and adopted a new constitution. P. J. Melody moved the election of Chauncey I. Filley as an honorary vice-president. The election was deferred by a very uncomplimentary majority when put to a vote.

RECLAIMING THE EAST END.

The Citizens' Committee Hold an Important Meeting and Begin Work.

A meeting of the committee appointed by the East End merchants and property owners was held at the Mercantile Club last night and nearly all the members were present. Those who were on hand were:

E. S. Rowse of Cavender & Rowse, also representative of the Connecticut Mutual; Carlos S. Greeley of the Greeley-Burnham Grocery Co., Giles F. Filley of the Excelsior Manufacturing Co., Christian Peper of the C. Peper Tobacco Co., and owner of the Broadway Line; Marcus Bernheimer of Scharff, Bernheimer Grocery Co., Col. J. K. Cummings, President of the St. Louis Glass-works; J. F. Imbs of J. F. Imbs & Co., flour merchants and millers; John S. Moffitt of the Moffitt-West Drug Co.; H. A. Hauessler, capitalist and member of the firm of Broadhead & Hauessler; T. S. Noonan, real estate man and capitalist; Richard Ennis of R. & T. A. Ennis Stationery Co.; ex-President John Wahl of the Merchants' Exchange; Judge J. H. Terry; P. C. Murphy, the trunk manufacturer; Henry Sayers of Henry Sayers & Co., and Miles Sells of Sells & Co.

Marcus Bernheim presided and a number of those who were present suggested means for bringing the heavy trade back to the East End.

J. K. Cummings thought that to accomplish their purpose they must have railroads in the East End, and he favored building an elevated railroad on the Levee on the level of Main street. He thought the city should build warehouses on the Levee, which would unite the river and the railroads. He repeated the suggestion he made at the last meeting, that the committee should see the property-owners and find out what a block or two in the East End would cost, the idea being to use the property for depots and terminal facilities.

H. A. Haeussler advised the formation of a company to purchase the property, suggesting that if they tried to condemn it the owners would multiply their price.

Miles Sells spoke of the need for switches to the large business houses. He thought Main would be a good street for a railroad, but second would be better, but the alley east of Main would, he thought, be better than any other place.

John Wahl thought the committee was a little too sure it could raise $1,000,000. He doubted whether it could be done.

Giles. F. Filley spoke again of Col. Flad's plan to build up the levee.

Richard Ennis said that the Mill Creek Valley promised to take all the heavy business, but he was sure if railroads could be brought into the East End so that East End merchants would have both the river and railroads at their doors that business would return to that portion of the city.

Marcus Bernheimer urged the building of a depot in the East End. He said a member of one of the largest corporations in the city had said his company would take $200,000 of depot stock, and intimated that another company would take a like amount. He then suggested that some member introduce a resolution for the appointment of a committee to go before the Municipal Assembly and ask that legislation affecting the railroad interest of the East End be suspended until the committee could ascertain what the citizens want. The resolution was adopted and Richard Ennis, John S. Moffitt and Marcus Bernheimer were appointed the committee. The meeting then adjourned subject to the call of the chair.

AFTER THE GAS BONDS.

The Hollins Syndicate Give Up More Than They Calculated On to St. Louis.

The arrangements of the Hollins gas syndicate, which has purchased all of the gas plants in this city, are being rapidly closed up now, and subscription books have just been opened at the offices of Hollins & Co., August Belmont and Kohn, Popper & Co., in New York; Glendenning & Co. and A. W. Clark & Co., in Philadelphia, and the Rothschilds, in London and Paris, for the sale of the remaining bonds of the $10,000,000 issue. The Hollins syndicate has in its possession about $4,000,000 of these bonds, but has places for more, and yesterday people connected with them appeared in the market as purchasers of them at 102½ to 105. The bonds are to net the Hollins subscribers 102½, and more than the $4,000,000 available were conditionally placed before the books were opened. Speaking of the matter to-day, Mr. James Campbell, the banker and broker, and the largest individual holder in the old trust certificates, said that the St. Louis gas stock and certificate holders had, under the option extended to them, taken about $6,000,000 of the $10,000,000 issue of bonds, instead of cash, whereas the Hollins people expected most of them to take a division of cash and stock, and under this division they estimated they would have about $8,000,000 of the bonds. The result he said would be a very active market between here and New York for the bonds, though as yet, there have been no sales, bids of 2½ and 5 per cent premiums failing to attract sellers. The market will also be very active on the stocks, though as yet buyers and sellers are very wide apart, $60 being bid and $75 asked for the preferred and $10 bid and $25 asked for the common stock. The payments in bulk of the deferred portions of the purchase price of the stock, not due for thirty days yet, published in the POST-DISPATCH yesterday, was expected to draw out some bonds or induce people who had taken bonds to change to stock and cash, but it did not have the desired effect. The payment of the deferred amounts Mr. Campbell regarded as strong evidence of the great wealth back of the Hollins' syndicate, while the large amount of bonds taken here and the tenacity with which they are held was as strong an evidence of the large amount of capital available and seeking investment in St. Louis.

THE LIMIT REACHED

IS THE GENERAL OPINION CONCERNING GRANITE PAVING.

Street Commissioner Burnet, City Counsellor Bell, Edward Devoy and Delegate Stone Express Their Opinions—It Is Very Hard on Horses—More Wood Wanted—Granite Too Noisy.

THE annual appropriation bill is now in the hands of the joint Ways and Means Committee of the City Council and the House of Delegates. One very important item which will appear on the list will be the sum of money set apart for street reconstruction for the coming year, and most of this money, or a large percentage of the $700,000 which is asked for, will go, if the granite paving is continued, to the payment of what is known as excess. That is the cost of the granite paving over and above 25 per cent of the assessed value of the property abutting on the street paved.

The system adopted on the granite pavement has been, in substance to charge to the expense of the property on the street being paved the cost up to 25 per cent of the assessed value; the expenses over that the city pays out of the general fund set apart for the street reconstruction. When the granite paving was first instituted the first streets paved were those in the main business portions of the city where the assessed valuation of the property was high and where the 25 per cent assessment almost alone. As the work extended toward the residence portions of the city, the assessed valuation of property naturally decreased and the excess over 25 per cent of the value to be paid by the city out of funds in the treasury increased in proportion. If the work of paving with granite is carried much beyond the point it now has reached the excess to be paid by the city will be nearly equal to 75 per cent of the cost of the pavement, in other words, the city will have to pay more for pavements, which will cost it more and give poorer returns, as the traffic over them will be greatly diminished, and the public benefit in consequence much less.

Street Commissioner George Burnet said this morning: "There is no doubt that the excess bills of the city are growing larger and larger as the granite paving approaches the residence districts, and very soon an unfair proportion of the cost will be heaped upon the taxpayers in general, while the property holders profited by the paving will not have to pay in proportion to the benefit, because of the lesser valuation placed on their holdings of real estate. I am of putting down wood pavements, as much wood as the city can afford, in the districts which are now in absolute need of reconstructed streets. We have just about reached the limit of granite pavement and should certainly do a little wood work. Taking into consideration the all important point of expense, and presupposing that the work will be well done and the material good the results attained will be equal if not better with wood than with granite. Wood is what we want now in the majority of cases."

Edward Devoy, who has taken an active interest in the street paving question for a number of years past, and who has made a very thorough study of the subject, was asked this morning: "Is not the granite paving being overdone and what do you think of the comparative merits of granite and other material, say, for example, wood?"

He said: "There are many objections to granite, but I do think that in some cases granite is necessary; as on the streets where the heavy work is done. But even there objections can be found to it which are worthy of very careful consideration. It is a universally acknowledged fact by all who have horses and use them to any extent that granite is bad,

VERY BAD, FOR HORSES.

It stiffens them up, and the wear and tear on them is something fearful nowadays. Where a horse has much traveling to do over granite streets it has to be taken to a blacksmith three times as often as heretofore, simply because of the severity of the granite on the hoof and the shoe. The constant rigid brace a horse naturally takes when he travels over granite gives him a stiffness about the legs which in a short time renders him unfit to do the work he would do under ordinary circumstances. Take again horses used for lighter work, such as pulling delivery wagons and such vehicles, the constant pounding of the ordinary trot on the hard unyielding pavement soon springs him in the fore knees and stiffens him up so that his walk looks like a limp. I am very much in favor of doing all the paving which is now contemplated, and which lies mainly in the residence district, with wood, or something of the same nature."

Taking another view of the matter and considering the noise and discomfort resulting from granite, City Counselor Bell was asked: "Would it not be a good idea to put a wooden or less noisy pavement than granite around the courts and public buildings?"

"Yes, that would be a good plan," said Mr. Bell. "The discomfort incident to noisy streets and the passage of heavy wagons past the court-rooms is at times very annoying, and occasionally interrupts entirely the proceedings. Very often on important cases the words of the person speaking, be he either attorney, Judge or witness, cannot be heard at all. It would be a good plan, I think, to put some less noisy pavement around the public buildings, so that on hot days when the court-rooms happen to be crowded it will not be necessary to close the windows to lessen the noise and allow the case to proceed."

Delegate Stone said: "I am very much in favor of letting up on granite pavement if it is only to relieve the city and the tax-paying public from the growing item of excess on the paving bills. We want some wooden streets now and ought to have them."

Street Commissioner Burnet will in a few days prepare a comparative table, showing the cost of the different pavements, their life, manner of construction and other items connected with them, which will show clearly the possibilities in the direction of paving with something other than granite.

NEWS FROM THE ORIENT.

Ten Thousand Lives Lost by a Fire in a Chinese City.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., June 13.—The steamer City of Peking arrived yesterday from Hong Kong, via Yokohama. The Shanghai Courier of May 10 contains news which the latter received from a correspondent at Chung King, to the effect that Lu Chow, a city of some importance in Upper Pangtsze, was reported as being nearly destroyed by fire a month previous. Seven out of the eight gates of the city are said to have been destroyed and the loss of life, burned and trampled to death, is estimated at 10,000. Commenting on this the Shanghai Courier says:

"In case this startling news is true, it is a remarkable fact that it has not reached Shanghai before now, as it is just a month since the fire was reported to have occurred. Still, this was not conclusive proof that a great disaster has not happened as a month is not too long a time for a letter to reach Chung King. We met a gentleman in Shanghai to-day who was in Ichang less than a month ago, and he informed us that a Mandarin was a fellow passenger with him as far as Hankow, and he told him about the fire, mentioning that three-fourths of the people of Lu Chow had been destroyed."

Will Keep the Waif.

Shortly after 9 o'clock last night as Mrs. Ed Butler, living at Twenty-third and Pine streets, was looking from her window into the street she saw a little 4-year-year-old girl walking along the pavement, wandering aimlessly about as if lost. She took the tot into the house and questioned her regarding her home and identity, but the child was only able to give her name as Lizzie Jordan and could not locate her home. She said both her parents were dead. She had been living with her Aunt Lizzie, who is a cook. Mrs. Butler will keep the little one until called for.

AN INSANE CHINAMAN.

He Thinks a White Woman Is Trying to Make Him Her Husband.

Wong Joind, a decrepit Chinaman doing laundry work at 609 Market street, is insane. Upon complaint from a number of Wong's countrymen, Dr. Priest of the Dispensary recommended his arrest, and the Celestial is now confined behind the bars at the Four Courts. On Tuesday afternoon, about 4:30 o'clock the prisoner attempted to commit suicide by jumping in the river, but was rescued and sent on his way. His symptoms have since been of a threatening nature, and his brother laundrymen feared violence at his hands. Chi Hung Gee, doing business at 924 Locust street, called at the Four Courts this morning and conversed with the insane prisoner. From the former's interpretation it appears that Wong Joind is a married man and left a wife and little child in China when he came to this country to seek his fortune.

A short time ago he received intelligence from his native land that the child had burned to death, and the tragic occurrence so preyed upon his mind that he became unbalanced. He now labors under the delusion that a certain white woman living near his place of business is infatuated with him and wishes to become his wife. He says he shuns her and endeavors in every way to avoid her attentions, but the woman insists upon the union, and it was to escape further persecution that he flung himself into the river. Dr. Priest made an examination of the man's condition this morning and finds unmistakable signs of insanity. Steps will at once be taken toward his confinement in some institution where his disease may receive proper treatment.

THE PNEUMATIC GUN-CARRIAGE.

A Successful Test Made at the Naval Proving Grounds.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., June 13.—The pneumatic gun-carriage made by the Pneumatic Gun-Carriage & Powder Co. of South Boston, Mass., was fully tested yesterday at the naval proving grounds by a board of naval officers, consisting of Capt. John A. Howell, Lieut. Commander M. R. MacKenzie, Lieut. S. Eaton Schroeder and Lieut. Sidney A. Staunton. The tests began at 10:40 a. m. and ended at 2 p. m. Twenty rounds were fired, ten slowly, ten fast. The gun was furnished by the Government and is an 8-inch, carrying a 250-pound shell with a charge of 126 pounds of powder. The carriage acted in a satisfactory manner. The recoil of the gun is received upon an air cushion. A short recoil is a great disideratum on shipboard, where there is little room. The recoil of a field piece of artillery will be from six to eight feet. The pneumatic gun carriage tried yesterday reduced the recoil to two feet. No accident of any kind happened during the tests. The ten fast shots were made with a minute and a half interval. Col. Creasy, President of the Pneumatic Gun Carriage and Powder Co., and Wm. Hunt, Jr., Secretary, were present at the trial.

VIRGINIA'S DEBT.

Gen. Henderson Not Authorized to Settle With English Creditors.

RICHMOND, Va., June 13.—Letters have been received here from London saying that Ex-Senator Henderson of Missouri and Col. H. C. Parsons of Virginia, who are now there, are advertised as agents of the State for the settlement of the Virginia debt with the bondholders there. Gov. Lee said when asked about it that he had no communication with the gentlemen referred to on the subject of their reported mission and that the State had not conferred upon them any authority to act as her agents in any way, shape or form.

"Why," said the Governor, "the debt is going to settle itself. Why should anyone attempt to retard it by raising any false hope of the adoption of any other plan than that decreed by the State over and over again, and upon which both parties have joined in demanding? Virginia threes, or Riddleberger bonds, as some call them, are steadily advancing. They were worth when I came into office 59; to-day 70 cents is asked for them. The difference between their price and that of consols may soon be great enough to make it an object to fund the latter. The debt is then settled."

OFF FOR MACON.

Wm. A. Atkins, Who Is Wanted For a Gold Brick Swindle.

Deputy Sheriff J. W. White arrived in St. Louis from Macon, Mo., last night and left for home later in the evening, having in custody Wm. A. Atkins, wanted in Macon for attempting a gold brick swindle. The prisoner admits his guilt but insists that no money was obtained from the victim. Atkins lives in this city and has resided at 2223 Chestnut street for some time past. It will be remembered that about a month ago all the local papers printed an account of his sensational attempt at suicide, stating that Atkins had obtained a revolver, fired several shots at his young wife and then attempted to put an end to his own life. While in his cell at the Four Courts he emphatically denied the truth of these statements, and asserted that he was only firing at random while in a drunken frenzy. Mrs. Atkins, who excites much sympathy, left last night for Hannibal, and will use every endeavor to secure bail at Macon for the prisoner.

…UERITE AND LIZETTE CARRY THE BURLESQUE INTO REAL LIFE.

…Ramola Makes an Announcement …om the Stage, Which Closes the Performance—Miss Elmo Explains the …uble—Manager Baker Hears the …morous Appeals of the Company for …ry but Heeds Them Not.

A MANAGER has played Mephisto with "Faust Jr." and the company has disbanded, after a season of sorrow as terrible as that through which the burlesque Dr. Faust passed. The last act in the drama was played at the Music Hall last night and the performance was brought to an abrupt termination, with a climax that was novel and thrilling. The curtain did not go up until 8:45 o'clock, but the first and second acts were sung and the small audience that was present expected to hear the opera out. The curtain rose for the last act and James B. Radcliffe, who played Valentine, walked on the stage to sing his cigar song. He had just sung a bar of the music when Miss Carlotta Ramola, the Lizette, rushed on the stage, followed by Miss Lillian Elmo, the Marguerite. They came on without a cue and interrupted the music, but they were not long in explaining why they were there. Miss Ramola rushed to the footlights. Radcliffe tried to keep on singing, but had to stop. Loomiss, the musical director, motioned Miss Ramola back, but she would not go. She shouted at the top of her voice, "Ladies and Gentlemen," and then proceeded to rasp the management in high tragic style. She said that not a member of the company had received a cent of salary and they were without money. "We have determined," said Miss Ramola, and she stamped her foot and shook her head, "we have determined that this performance shall not go on unless we receive our salary. We have been swindled out of what we have earned, the whole thing is a swindle and we will not stand it any longer. We are entitled to our salary and want it and we ask the audience to stand by us."

Some members of the audience applauded and some hissed. There was a noise on the stage and the audience was noisy. The racket was kept up until the curtain went down and closed the scene so far as the audience was concerned. But the company played an afterpiece that was rather amusing. C. S. Baker, the proprietor, discreetly remained away from the stage, but Mrs. Baker went to Miss Ramola's dressing-room and expressed her opinion. Miss Ramola told Mrs. Baker what she had told the audience, that the whole thing was a swindle and the members of the company had been beaten out of their salaries. Mrs. Baker grew furious and spoke to Miss Ramola in a very excited manner. She threatened to strike her and when matters came to the point of tragedy they were separated. Then the ladies packed their trunks and went home.

Mr. Baker is stopping at the Merchants' Hotel, and several attempts were made this morning to see him, but he was out. He could not be found. Harold Leslie, who played Dr. Faust, was found, and when he was asked for a story of the company's troubles he laughed. He wasn't worried much, though he was in the hole, too, but he has been expecting it. "I knew it was coming," he said, "because the company had nothing back of it. It was organized in Chicago and all the people were signed there. I was engaged to play Faust, and Miss Elmo and Miss Ramola were brought on from New York. We rehearsed in Chicago for five weeks and then went to Milwaukee, where we played for a week in the Standard Theater. Baker pretended that he had good backing and was sure of a good business, but the thing was horribly managed. We did nothing in Milwaukee; not a thing. At the end of a week Baker had nothing to pay the hotel bill with. The proprietor of the house, the Metropolitan, paid our fares down here and sent a lawyer, Joe something, to take the cash at the box-office. He hasn't got much, because the first night we only had $240 in the house. The next night it fell off $17, and last night the receipts were between $30 and $40. I heard the people talking about salary, but I concluded to play through the week, so I didn't pay much attention to them until the last act. Then the stage manager came to me and said 'never mind about the next act, Miss Elmo won't go on.' Well that settled it with me. I went to my dressing-room and stripped the walls. Everything went into my trunk and I locked it up. I heard a commotion out in front and heard Miss Ramola's voice and I knew the jig was up. I just locked my trunk and went home. Baker is trying to arrange for a performance to-night, but I don't think he will succeed."

MISS RAMOLA AND MISS ELMO

were found in their rooms, on Olive street, just above the Exposition. They did not go to the hotel with the other members of the company, but took a suit of rooms together. They looked rather sad and Miss Ramola had evidently been crying. Mr. Leslie went to their rooms with the POST-DISPATCH reporter and Miss Ramola asked him if he would not go to the hall and get her music. He promised to do it and she thanked him. "It's all I've got left," she said. "This man Baker has brought us out here from New York and put us to a heavy expense, and now we get left. He owes Miss Elmo and me together $500."

"Oh more than that," said Miss Elmo. "Well, a good deal of money, and we have nothing. A fine fellow he is! He has a whole family with him, Mrs. Baker and their daughter and son-in-law and the little Bakers, a whole crew of them, and, of course, they come in first for everything and we are in the soup."

"This whole trouble comes about," said …mo, "because the company has been …y managed. They don't know any…bout managing a company, not a one … I have had to tell them what to do …me, and if I had had authority I would …n things differently, but the Bakers … authority and used my suggestions. …played a week in Milwaukee, and we left …n there, because we got no salaries, and …t to Chicago. Then they induced us to …e down here and promised to pay us Mon…night, but they didn't do it. Baker said he would pay salaries on Tuesday, but he didn't give us a cent. Last night we and told him that we demanded our money and if we didn't get it we would not sing. He promised to pay us before the curtain rose and we dressed for the performance: then we sent to him to know what he was going to do. They wanted to raise the curtain and go on with the performance, but I said no. I positively refused to let the curtain go up and I didn't until that Milwaukee lawyer came back and said he would divide the receipts with us. He said he would count up while the first act was played and come back and settle after it. He didn't do … though, and we played the first act and the …ond. The third opens with the scene in the …dal chamber between Mr. Leslie and my…, but when I looked at the stage I saw the …ansformation scene was set. I said that …ene was mine and I was going to have it; I …ould go on and play it whether … stage was set for it or not, but …tead of giving me the scene and … money, they refused both and …s Ramola and I concluded we had stood …ugh. Miss Ramola said if they did not give …ur money before the curtain went up we …ld go out and make an announcement. …y paid no attention to us and we just ran …nd made the announcement, that is, Miss …ola did. I never could have done it. It … awful amount of nerve."

"…n't know what I was doing," said …mola, "I know that I said what I …o say, but I can't remember what I did …But just think of what Baker has done … He has brought us from New York and … are, without anything."

"… are you going to do?"

"…graph to New York and ar…" she answered with a laugh. "We have some financial matters to look after, but we will be detained in St. Louis for a day or two."

"Oh, how I want to get back to New York," said Miss Elmo.

"I do, too; but, Lillian, we will have to wait until we have arranged those financial matters."

They talked then of the hardships of stage life, but this was their first experience with a stranded company and the greatest hardship they had ever endured. They did not know how to take it. "I have made up my mind to one thing," said Miss Elmo. "I am as ambitious as a woman can be and I work hard, but I'm going to stop it. The ones that get along best are lazy, and I'm going to be lazy too."

Mr. Baker has not yet decided what he will do. Misses Ramola and Elmo and Harold Leslie will not play, but Mr. Baker wants to give a performance to-night if he can. The chorus, which is composed of nine men and twelve women besides those who were employed here to fill up, is stranded too. None of them have any money and they look to Mr. Baker to get them back to Chicago.

CANADIAN ANTI-JESUIT CONVENTION.

A Scheme Adopted for the Organization of a Provincial Association.

TORONTO, Ontario, June 13.—At yesterday's session of the Anti-Jesuit Convention the Organization Committee presented its report. It recommended the adoption of the following scheme:

The Provincial Association to be known as the Equal Rights Association. Branches will be formed in townships, villages, towns, cities or other municipalities, or parts thereof. Each branch will have a Chairman, Secretary, Treasurer and Executive Committee, and will send delegates to the District Council, of which the headquarters will be at county towns or other equally convenient places. These district councils in turn will send delegates to the Provincial Council or the grand convening body, which will meet annually or at such other times as shall be deemed expedient by the Executive Committee. This committee will be elected by the Provincial Council and be composed of thirty members. The formation of a Dominion association on similar lines was suggested. The discussion of the report was deferred until after the adoption of various resolutions. The Resolution Committee reported five more resolutions. The first expressed accord with the system of public schools and affirmed the principle that a man should be a separate school supporter only of his own desire. The second affirmed the principle that nothing but English should be taught in the schools of the Province; that teachers should be qualified to instruct in that language and that no books other than those authorized by the Educational Department should be used. The third pledged the convention to support for public positions only those men who would subscribe to the principles of the convention. The fourth affirmed the expediency of the formation of an association along the lines laid down by the Organization Committee. The fifth indorsed the action of the Citizens' Committee of Toronto in having petitioned the Dominion Government for the disallowance of the Jesuits estate act. The convention adopted the five resolutions and the plan of organization and the council met and elected Rev. Dr. Caven, Chairman; S. C. Duncan Clark, Treasurer, and E. D. Armour, Secretary.

There was a rather warm discussion over the resolution insisting that English should be the only medium of instruction in the public schools of the Province and that every school teacher should be able to teach English. Several members denounced the condition of things which they declared existed in the eastern counties. Principal Caven, however, said he thought it would have been only fair if the Ontario Government had been given credit for taking a step in the right direction in the appointment of a Commissioner to investigate the state of affairs in the eastern counties. The resolution was passed unanimously.

CHILDREN SEEKING DIVORCE.

Annie Elkington Against E. T. Elkington—A Doctor's Bill—Other Notes.

Mother-in-law on one side, father-in-law on the other and religion on both sides are the causes which have saddened the lives of two young people and brought them into the divorce court, ostensibly wrangling and fighting over the possession of a little child 17 months old. The parties are Annie Elkington, the plaintiff, age about 20 years, and Edward T. Elkington, defendant, age about 24 years. They have been married three years, but for the past year have lived apart for the reason that he fitted up a flat at 2206 Wash street, and his wife would not follow him there, claiming the neighborhood was not to her liking. In his answer and cross bill he calls her action desertion. Elkington is an Englishman and a Presbyterian. Mrs. Elkington's maiden name was Scilly. She is Irish and a Roman Catholic. She said on the stand, her husband ridiculed her religion, charged her with infidelity and made fun of her race and people, called them "Irish paupers and beggars." He showed no love for his child, and while absent from his wife's home never made an attempt to see it or ask about its health. On account of this conduct Mrs. Elkington sued for divorce. When the case was called yesterday there were in court Mrs. Elkington's mother, two sisters, a brother and two neighbors. On Mr. Elkington's side were his father and mother. Every member of both families testified for their side, and the case closed with Mr. Elkington's testimony this afternoon. He was asked if he ever called his wife a "bloody blasted fool."

"I did," he answered.

"What did you mean by that?" the attorney inquired.

"Oh, I was just playing with her. I loved her."

"And that was the way you had of telling her so. That's your idea of the proper terms of endearment is it, eh?"

Elkington was confused, and said, "Yes, sir."

Proving His Claims.

Dr. C. L. Herring, a magnetic physician, was engaged all morning in the Probate Court trying to prove up a claim against the estate of George C. Hayden, deceased. He treated Mr. Hayden for two years and he died. He also treated a Mr. McGill for Mr. Hayden, but Mr. McGill still lives. The bill was $960, of which $220 has been paid, leaving a balance due of $740.

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES OF THE ST. LOUIS NORMAL SCHOOL TO-DAY.

Nineteen Young Ladies, Simply Dressed, Receive Their Diplomas Without Accompaniment of Flowers—A. D. Mayo of Boston Talks to Them on the Meaning of Their Diplomas—A New Departure.

BY degrees the teachers of the Normal School have been able to thoroughly reform the commencement day exercises of that institution. They began two years ago, when the flower nuisance was abolished. Last year they induced the girls to dress simply in white, and to-day a class of nineteen young ladies graduated there without the commonly attendant essay horror. No miss who had had twenty years or less experience in this world and could not for the life of her tell the use of yeast in bread-making nor the philosophy of indigo in the rinse waters of the laundry, attempted to inform the universe of its errors or depleted the dictionary of adjectives. Nineteen girls sat in a row and looked pretty, and when called upon opened their nineteen mouths to sing pretty chorals under the direction of Prof. Froelich.

IN LIEU OF ESSAYS

A. D. Mayo of Boston talked to them about "The Diploma of the St. Louis Normal school." Dr. Mayo was formerly a minister having a charge in Boston, but he gave that up to go into the South and Southwest lecturing for the Peabody fund. He has worked mostly in the darkest places, and educators say he has aroused more interest in education there than any other living man. He is a very pleasant gentleman, white-haired and whiskered, blending in his manner the preacher and the teacher. In beginning his address he referred pleasantly to the absence of floral pieces. He told them that in his college days too many senior graduates were obliged to thumb the well-worn Latin lexicon to read their Latin diploma, "but yours is written in plain English and there is no mistaking what it says. Your diploma means first the heritage of educational opportunity to the Western American girl. In a few days the city of Boston will celebrate the beginning of the American common school. Two hundred and fifty years ago on Meeting House Hill, Dorchester, near Boston, that free schoolhouse door was flung wide open, through which have filed the generations of American children. For 150 years the common school was

THE SOLE HERITAGE OF NEW ENGLAND.

Slowly after the Revolution did the old Middle States fall into line. Even before they had quite made up their mind the new Northwest encouraged by national aid to education had bounded to the front and lifted the banner inscribed with that sentence from the ordinance of 1787, Religion, morality and knowledge being essential to good government, schools and the means of education shall be encouraged.' One by one the new commonwealths toward the setting sun have joined the children's procession, each better educated than the last. The coming census will show that the most intelligent communities in the world are the States grouped around the feet of the Rocky Mountains.

"The South takes her own time to do every thing, but for the last ten years my heart and soul have rejoiced and been made glad with the mighty muster of 3,000,000 Southern children marching to the music of the Union under the good old flag—the young guard that will close up the column with the blessed assurance that now the battle for the people's school is fairly won."

"More than half a century ago a young clergyman journeyed from the land of the sunrise out to

on the borders of the new West, built a church and opened the first free school west of the Mississippi. I need not tell you what Dr. Wm. G. Eliot has done to build up your heritage of opportunity. No man can live forever, and the dear doctor gave his final benediction to the children on the Gulf of Mexico, by going to heaven that way.

"Fifty years ago Horace Mann woke up the great revival of education which lifted the old-time New England ungraded district school to the present American system of universal education. He crowned the work when on July 4 on the battlefield of old Lexington be dedicated the first normal school. One of its earliest graduates, Anna Brackett, came West and became, after Dr. Edwards, the first lady principal of the school which graduated you to-day. William T. Harris was already here, the most notable common school man contributed by the old educational East to the new West. St. Louis has sent them both home again, revised and improved. On July 4 the beautiful village of Farmingham, Mass., will be alive with the celebration of the half-centennial of the first American normal School. A score of good women known in St. Louis education will be there.

ANOTHER BOY FROM YANKEE LAND

was brought to St. Louis to teach mathematics in Washington University. He figured better than even Dr. Eliot knew, and last month new Boston, always like old Athens after some new thing, in the person of his Superintendent of Schools came to St. Louis to study the organization of the Manual Training School, which has made the name of Prof. Woodward familiar to the educators through the length and breadth of the land.

"A hundred years ago old Virginia waived her claim to her magnificent estate in the Northwest in favor of the new republic and joined the Northeast and Atlantic South in that great consecration of public lands for education, which, more than any act of Government, explains the marvelous growth of the new America from the Alleghenies to the Polar Sea.

"But even America, North and South, cannot assume the full honor of gathering your heritage. From every civilized land have come the wise men.

LIKE THE MAGI OF OLD,

bearing gifts to lay upon the cradle of the new civilization, of which St. Louis is itself, perhaps, the most notable university within the Union. England, Scotland, Ireland, France, Switzerland and, most freely of all, Germany have come to you with their best schemes of culture, their philosophy and their pedagogy.

"Never as now in the age of the new education, and modern civilization was the teacher so truly the leader of mankind. Everything in American civilization depends on the education of our younger 20,000,000 with the coming twenty-five years. The American common school is the heart of American education. It were better that every university in the land should be compelled to work on its present endowment through that term of years than that the normal schools, State and city should not be developed to the uttermost of their capacity to train the teachers to teach the children who will become the State."

spoke at some length concerning the expectations the city had of the graduates of the Normal School, none of which could be disregarded. They would find, he said, relatives whose great grievance against the teachers was that they "could not make educational bricks without an occasional supply of home straw." A Bishop once told him that he could not keep the boys of his cathedral in the Sunday-school a day after confirmation and the next strongest church in the country had tried for 100 years to abolish dancing without success. Boston, he said, spent $15,000,000 annually for whisky and $5,000,000 for education, yet every one wonders why the schools are a failure. He referred to the crusade against religion in the schools and said: "The real danger is that not any party or church can destroy or change the structure but that the idea of an education which blends religion, morality and knowledge shall be supplanted by the narrowest sectarianism now in the field. That the school is a machine to teach the three Rs with the art of keeping out of the poor-house."

The diploma, he said, meant a perpetual obligation to teach. "It is after a sort your marriage certificate, with no rebate of divorce indorsed on the back." He told them that the poor teacher has no rights in the school-room the people are bound to respect and that the very worst use of their time would be the pulling of feminine wires for a position in the schools. He advised them to teach if they had to hire somebody to practice on and said the best preparation for a professional life would be a year's work among the most ignorant, needy and mischievous children.

F. N. JUDSON,

President of the School Board, presented the diplomas to the following graduates: Louise S. Barbee, Jennie F. Black, Margaretta M. Brown, Carrie Vance Butler, Kate Butler, Katie M. Daily, Katie E. Dennison, Clara B. Ferguson, Jessie Gambrill, Rosa Hesse, Margaret A. Kelly, Annie B. Mackey, Francis R. McEnnis, Kittie F. Morris, Sarah A. Piatt, Linda R. Ross, Amelia D. Sarot, Eveleen M. Shinnick, Linnie W. Taylor.

Trains to Kensington Gardens were crowded last night and the delightfully funny minstrel men cracked their jokes at a large audience. The company is composed of sixteen capital burnt-cork artists, and their performance is unusually good. It is one of the strongest minstrel organizations ever seen here.

TO BEAT DOLLAR GAS.

The New Electric Light Company Makes a Bold Declaration.

The Board of Directors of the new Municipal Electric Light Co. held its first business meeting this morning. The organization was as published in the POST-DISPATCH yesterday, with Mr. Julius Walsh as President, and Chas. Sutter as Vice-President. The meeting was confined almost entirely to the consideration and approval of contracts for material, etc., and everything was contracted for except the belting and shafting. The approximate expenditure will be between $600,000 and $650,000. There will be in addition to the capital stock of $750,000, a bond issue of probably $500,000, to bear 6 per cent interest. The amount has not yet been definitely determined, though Mr. Sutter said enough had already been placed in the East to carry out the work.

Mr. Julius Walsh, when seen after the adjournment of the board, said all of their affairs were in good shape, and that as President he would take an active position in the company and would give all of its affairs his personal supervision.

Vice-President Sutter, in speaking of the contracts, said they had all been made, the Hamilton (O.) Corliss Engine Co. being under bond to furnish four engines, necessary to supply the city contracts, by September 1. The contracts do not begin until January 1 and it is expected the company will begin furnishing commercial lights by October 1. The plant to be erected will have a horse-power of 6,000, equal to the production of 6,000 arc lights of 2,000 candle power each. The building, however, will be of sufficient dimensions to put in machinery for 9,000 horse power. It will also accommodate the machinery necessary for incandescent lighting, which will be added as soon as the arc light plant is completed, both to be in working order by January 1. Of the 6,000 lights with which the company will start, the city contracts will take 2,260.

CHEAPER THAN ONE DOLLAR GAS.

"We are now making contracts for private lamps," said Mr. Sutter, "at $10 per month, the lamps burning from dark to 1 a. m. Our incandescent lights will be placed at a rate to give cheaper light than can be had from $1 gas. You can depend upon that, and you can also depend upon our putting in the wires and equipment at a minimum cost."

Mr. Sutter made this remark with considerable emphasis, and when asked what rate would be made and how the use of the light would be gauged, replied with even more emphasis:

"I cannot tell the price yet, as some things remain to be settled, but it will be lower in comparison than $1 gas, and though we have not been talking much we have done a great deal of work, propose to stand on an independent basis and have our share of the business going. In large buildings, residence or commercial, we will put in meters, while in smaller buildings and residences, where the number of lights used will not warrant the putting in of a meter, the charge will probably be on the basis of 1 cent per hour per light, arranged on the average of the hours lights are used in different rooms or parts of the house. There might be difficulty in this, but some way we will supply the light to beat $1 gas. It is not propable, however, that the occupants of smaller residences will want the incandescent light until it is more fully introduced in the larger ones."

In reference to the stringing of the wires and the laying of the conduit of the Dorsett Conduit Co., Mr. Sutter said the wires would be strung in the outlying districts first. Mr. George Levin, engineer of the Chicago system, is now in the city consulting with President Flad of the Board of Public Improvements and a permit to go ahead with the work is expected within a few days. If the conduit is not completed in time, then the wires will be strung on poles down town.

GENTLEMEN will do well to see the line of $1.50, $2, and $2.50 shoes; also the fine French calf hand-sewed shoes worth $6 at $4. Great reduction sale at the

KEPT HIS SECRET.

The Suicide of George Deitzel, a Lad of 16, in New York.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

NEW YORK, June 13.—George Deitzel of 514 East Seventeenth street, a lad of 16, killed himself yesterday with carbolic acid. He lived with his mother, two brothers and a married sister and her husband on the third floor of the house. His family say they cannot account for his act.

"He was a bad boy," sighed his old mother yesterday, "and it all came from his going with bad company. Up to three or four weeks ago he was all right. He worked in a pocket-book factory and was steady. Then he stopped work, and ever since he has been staying out all night two or three nights in the week. When we spoke to him about it he was sassy. I was going to have him arrested." Here she broke down. "Oh, how I wish I had," she cried. "He might be alive now."

"We don't know who the boys were that he went with," said his sister. "We tried to follow him, but he was too smart for us. He slept home night before last. Last night he was out again. He came in this morning. We talked to him again and he went out. He came again in the afternoon. I left him here alone while I took my baby to the dispensary. When I got back he was dead on the roof-stairs."

While she was out he went to a drug store on the corner of Avenue A and Sixteenth street and bought 10 cents worth of carbolic acid.

"I will take it home," he said in answer to the druggist. "Some one is sick in our house and the Board of Health is coming. I don't want them to find out about the sickness."

Some of his comrades among the neighbors tell a different story. "He was driven out of the house," said a youth who lives next door, "and he could not stand staying in the streets. When he lost his job one of his brothers, who is called the dude, who bosses the house, would not let him stay. He drove the other brother out, too."

The police of the Eighteenth Precinct have no knowledge of any gang of bad boys in that neighborhood. They knew nothing against the lad.

AN INTERESTING CASE.

A Suit to Determine the Disposition of Money Found by Boys.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

ELIZABETH, N. J., June 13.—What promises to be an interesting legal case was begun yesterday in Union County by the filing of papers with the County Clerk in a suit for the recovery of the treasure of over $1,000, found two years ago by three boys who were strolling along the Central Railroad in the suburbs of this city. One of the lads, Willie Carsman, espied a ball of rags tightly fastened with a cord, lying along side the track and picking it up tossed it to one of his companions, who kicked it back. The lads played foot ball with the bundle for some time until at last the string gave way and the rag ball fell apart disclosing in its center a roll of bank notes. The surprised youngsters hastened home with their prize and gave it to one of their fathers, whose conscience troubling him as to what disposal to make of it he resolved to consult John Keron, Chief of the New Jersey Detective Bureau. Keron took the money to the First National Bank and deposited it in his own name. He advertised it in the New York and New Jersey papers, telling of the find and calling upon the owner to appear and prove his property. Numerous claims for the treasure were put in, but none of them could describe it properly or tell the exact amount found. Assemblyman Marsh, as guardian of the lad who first discovered the treasure, put in a claim for the money and has instituted a suit against Chief Keron for the recovery of the same, and prominent lawyers disagree as to what will be the outcome of the suit. Several lawyers, among them the City Attorney, think the money, in case no owner being found, should go to the city for the poor fund, while others think the finders are entitled to it. It is hinted that the Court will likely order that the windfall be turned in to the overseer of the poor to be used by him for the relief of the city paupers.

He will run in the Brewers' Cup, which will be the event of the day, and is always one of the principal stakes of the spring meeting here. The distance is one and a half miles. There were fifteen entries when the stakes closed, and there will probably be five or six starters. Hindoocraft, Ireland Bros.' crack 3-year-old, is entered and will probably start, and Lucky Baldwin's pair, Los Angeles and Mollie McCarty's Last, both good horses, are also eligible, and very likely will both be sent to the post. Firenzi's Colors Again Lowered.

At Jerome Park yesterday Firenzi was beaten in the Westchester handicap, a mile and three-eighths, by Charley Dreux, Lelogos, the second choice and only other starter, finishing before the great mare. Firenzi appears to be out of shape as this is the third time she has been beaten within ten days, Oriflamme and Raceland having also downed her. Below is the result of the races:

First race, 1,400 yards—Fitzroy, first; Carnot, second; So-So, third. Time, 1:24½.

Second race, 3-year-olds, one and one-sixteenth miles—Auricoma, first; Lady Pulsifer, second. Time, 1:56¾. (Only two starters.)

Third race, Westchester handicap, one and three-eighths miles—Charley Dreux, first; Lelogos, second; Firenzi, third. Time, 2:25.

Seventh race, 2-year-olds, three-fourths mile—Druidess, first; Bill Letcher, second; Garrison, third. Time, 1:19½.

Yesterday's Races.

It was a bad day for favorites yesterday, H. C. Hartman's gray jumper, Linguist, who won the hurdle race, being the only one to earn any money for his backers. In the first race, a purse of $400 for 2-year-olds who have not won during the meeting, five furlongs, the starters were—Mary Malloy, who was a strong favorite; Queer Toy, Lena Ban, Nannie P., The Moor, Last Chance, Mayor Noonan, Lottie S., Huaipa and Joe Nevens. Queer Toy, the second choice in the betting, won, with Mary Malloy second and Lena Ban. Time, 1:05¾.

The Elk captured the second race, a selling purse of $500, one mile; Lotion was second and Big Brown Jug third. J. T. and Fredericka were the only other starters. Time, 1:47. Fredericka was the favorite.

The Bankers and Brokers' Stakes, for maiden 3-year-olds, with $1,000 added, one and one-eighth miles, was won in hollow style by Le Premier in 1:59¼. He took the lead before the first furlong had been finished and was never headed, winning without being touched by whip or spur by two open lengths. Beth Broeck was second and Venguer third. Unlucky, Bravo, Josie M. and Girondes were the other starters. Bravo was the favorite, with Beth Broeck a strong second choice, and Le Premier next in order.

In the fourth race, a sweepstakes purse of $600, one mile and one-sixteenth, Huntress sold a strong favorite, but Bridgelight won easily, with Strideaway second and Huntress third. The time was 1:52½. Entry, Prather and Bonita were the other starters.

Linguist, Lijero, Voltigeur, Killarney and Ed Butts started in the last race, a mile and a half over six hurdles. Linguist sold favorite over the field, and won easily in 3:20. Ed Butts fell twice in attempting to take hurdles, but Hays, his jockey, remounted both times and finished with him.

Amateur Records Broken.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

NEW YORK, June 13.—The Amateur Athletic Union of the United States held its first annual Eastern championship meeting on the grounds of the New Jersey Athletic Club at Bergen Point, N. J., yesterday afternoon. The track was heavy, and the conditions were unfavorable to record breaking yet two world's records were beaten. In the 3-mile run Carter's record, 15:16⅗, stood until yesterday's game. Now, P. D. Skillman of the New York Athletic Club has lowered it to 15:11¼. Considering the condition of the track this work was wonderful. In the race there were five starters—P. D. Skillman and Henry Webb, New York Athletic Club; P. C. Petrie, Staten Island Athletic Club, and N. D. Day and E. H. Jerlberg, New Jersey Athletic Club. Day and Jerlberg led for the first mile, time, 4:55¾; and the second mile, time, 10:09. Day and Skillman were together at the three-quarters post of the last mile, when suddenly Day was seen to stagger and reel. Skillman, however, seemed very fresh, made a spurt up the last quarter and established the new record. Day managed to totter to the tape and then fell in a dead faint.

The second record-breaking event was throwing the sixteen-pound hammer. There were three contestants—J. S. Mitchell, Gaelic Athletic Association; C. A. J. Queckberner, Staten Island Athletic Club, and A. Schroeder, New York Athletic Club. The record, 130 feet and 1 inch from a seven-foot circle, was held by Mitchell. That athlete yesterday threw 132 feet and 9 inches, beating his own and the world's record by 2 feet 8 inches.

Yesterday's Games.

The Browns were beaten at Baltimore yesterday by a score of 8 to 3, the game being called in the ninth inning on account of rain after the Baltimores had scored two runs. The score went back to the end of the eighth inning. Hudson and Milligan for the Browns and Foreman and Quinn for Baltimore were the batteries. Base hits—Baltimore, 10; St. Louis, 7. Errors—Baltimore, 5; St. Louis, 4. The second game they were to play was prevented by the rain.

LEAGUE GAMES.

Cleveland was defeated at Indianapolis yesterday by a score of 10 to 3. Burdick and Getzein did the pitching and Daly the catching for Indianapolis, and Beatin and Sutcliffe were the Cleveland's battery. Base hits: Indianapolis, 16; Cleveland, 6. Errors: Indianapolis, 4; Cleveland, 3.

At Chicago the home team was defeated by Pittsburg by a score of 10 to 5. Hutchinson and Sommers for Chicago and Galvin and Muller for Pittsburg were the batteries. Base hits: Chicago, 8; Pittsburg, 11. Errors: Chicago, 9; Pittsburg, 3.

A DESPERATE CONVICT.

He Makes a Murderous Assault Upon One of the Prison Officials.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

AUBURN, N. Y., June 13.—John Thomas, alias John Welch, a new convict in the State prison here, assaulted Capt. Hanlon yesterday morning with an iron bed-post, inflicting almost fatal injuries. The convict is a large, burly fellow, weighing 223 pounds and was confined in a screen cell for infraction of the prison rules. He has threatened several times of late to murder the first prison officer who provoked his ill will. Capt. Hanlon did this at 8 o'clock yesterday morning by ordering Welch to hand out his bed to be cleaned. Welch refused and attacked the officer when he entered the cell. A company of fifty-eight Sing Sing transfers stood about and witnessed the fight, becoming so excited that for a time it was feared that a general riot would ensue. Fortunately, however, the combatants did not get out in the corridor. There was intense excitement for about half an hour. Welch is a dangerous brute and committed several assaults on keepers during the winter. He feigned insanity so well last February that a few days later he was transferred to the asylum. Several days later he induced several of the patients to join him in an attempt to escape. They got out to the wall, when all surrendered except Welch, who fought until shot in the leg and disabled. He says he means to commit murder, and will do so at the first opportunity if he cannot get out.

Two attendants at the Criminal Insane Asylum were assaulted yesterday by a Brooklyn burglar named O'Brien, who intended to knock them insensible and effect his escape. His weapon was a stone tied up in a handkerchief. Both officers were badly injured, but they overpowered O'Brien and locked him up in the dungeon.

SCHOOLBOYS NO LONGER.

FORTY YOUNG MEN GRADUATED FROM THE MANUAL TRAINING SCHOOL.

Wonderful Progress Made by the School Since Its Establishment—Mr. Thomas Dimmock's Eloquent Address to the Graduates—Awarding of the Sellew Scholarship Medal—A Large Audience Present.

A LARGE and very intelligent audience gathered in Memorial Hall last evening to witness the graduating exercises of the St. Louis Manual Training School. All the seats were taken and people were standing in the aisles when the first number of the programme was commenced promptly at 8 o'clock. It was an essay on the "Architecture of St Louis," by Fred E. Cox, and the young man hanled his subject in a masterly manner. Several other essays followed and all of them were commendable, particularly that of Lincoln M. Stearns on "American Journalism."

When the reading of essays had been concluded Prof. Woodward read his report of the condition of the institution and its future prospects. He said that the past year the school had 241 scholars, which was eight more than it has had in any previous year in its history. This of the school and the applications for scholarship for the coming year were greater then the capacity of the school. One hundred more boys were to be added to the list for preparatory examination next September. He predicted that ten years from now there would be more manual training schools in the country than had ever been dreamed of by most people. The idea that the school was a mere gymnasium had been dispelled by the result.

At the conclusion of Prof. Woodward's remarks Chancellor Snow of Washington University presented the members of the graduating class with their diplomas. There were forty young men in the class as follows:

THE GRADUATES.

Fred Edward Cox, Horace J. Eggman, Robert S. Fosburgh, Arthur Albert Fritsch, Wm. L. Garrels, Johnathan W. George, James E. Godlove, Henry F. Hafner, Fred A. Hart, James R. Harris, Fred A. Hamilton, Julius C. Hermann, Gustav G. A. Herzog, Glenn C. Hill, Edward C. Hesselbach, Frank Olin Hicks, Aver Lee Hirsch, Ernest M. Hoen, Charles C. Hock, Ernest C. Hossmer, Charles F. Huber, Benjamin Wiley Johnson, Burt B. Kauffman, William Briscoe Kinealy, Herman William Korhammer, Henry F. Kortjohn, Guy Willis Latta, Albert Remig Lever, William Starr Mitchell, Guy Thomas Norton, Edward S. Pfeffer, Samuel Plant, Guy Heath Patriarche, Edwin Sherman Pitzman, Harry F. Roach, Walter Ellis Roe, R. Gustav Rybitzki, Frederico Ramon Seyffert, Lincoln M. Sterns, John C. Stephens, Wilson E. Weatherly, Crato Alex Wippen, Morris T. Wuerpel, John H. Wyeth, Jr.

Prof. Snow made a few remarks to them, telling them how proud the Washington University felt of that department of it from which they had been graduated wishing them all success in life, which, he said, they were sure to have.

Prof. Woodward followed Chancellor Snow on the platform and announced that the Sellew medal had been awarded to Charles Edward Hesselbach, who had made an average of 95 per cent. Ernest M. Hoen, who had 93 per cent, and three others who had 91 per cent each were favorably mentioned.

The address to the graduating class by Thomas Dimmock, Esq., followed. Prof. Woodward, in introducing Mr. Dimmock, spoke of him as "one who, when the school was in its infancy and needed friends, did more for it with his pen than any other man." Mr. Dimmock's address was as follows:

MR. DIMMOCK'S ADDRESS.

Journalists, I am told, are not proverbially modest. Therefore it is, I suppose, because I have been for some years past on the journalistic retired list (without, I am sorry to say, either rank, pay or pension) that I have sufficient modesty to disclaim the very high praise bestowed upon me by my friend, Prof. Woodward. When this school was in its infancy I did what I could for it with my pen, but that was not much—not nearly so much as I would have had it. But I am proud to have done even so little; for I can say of the Manual Training School what Henry Ward Beecher once said of a certain patent medicine: "I end by thinking better of what I began by thinking well of." And I envy—if envy be pardonable in such a case—the men who inaugurated the far-sighted policy which made this school a part, and a prominent feature of Washington University. I envy the large-hearted men who contributed so generously to place it upon a solid financial foundation. I envy the man who, as head of this school, has done more for the cause of manual training than any other man in the city or the country. For all these enviable people have thus attained what I think should be they have made the world better for their having lived in it.

Brevity is said to be the soul of wit. At this late hour it should be both soul and body of a speech, and I hope to make the quantity of my remarks so entirely satisfactory as to atone for all defects in quality.

A poet much more in fashion when I was young than he is now, says:

O! tell me not then of the heroes of story,
For the days of our youth are the days of our glory,
And the myrtle and ivy of sweet two and twenty,
Are worth all the laurels, though ever so plenty.

One whom we know much better than we do Tom Moore, William Tecumseh Sherman, in an address to the graduating class at West Point, when General-in-Chief of the Army, said with a touch of sentiment very unusual in the grim old soldier: "Young gentlemen, give me your youth and aspirations and take my age and rank." Moore thought of the jolly good times he had had when a youngster and which the young are commonly supposed to have. Sherman, more sensible and practical, thought only of "the aspirations," the noble hopes and ambitions which ...OUGHT TO BELONG TO YOUTH.

You, the forty graduates of to-day, have had the priceless endowment of youth supplemented by an educational equipment which may well inspire such hopes and ambitio... equipment which is absolutely uni... equipment which twenty, c... ten years ago could not, so far as I know, have been obtained anywhere at any price. The marriage of the trained brain to the trained hand is a new educational departure, from which great and beneficent results are sure to flow—results, too, which will be seen and felt much sooner than many of us now anticipate. Be worthy of these inestimable advantages. From those who have received much, much will be required; not only by public opinion, but by the individual conscience. For it seems to me that he who deliberately neglects or misuses such advantages, cannot look upon his own face in a mirror without a blush of ineffable shame. "I," said an English bishop, "aim at nothing, and hit it." Ecclesiastical examples are usually considered deserving of all imitation; but I beg you not to imitate this one. Aim at something, and aim high. If you miss the stars, you will certainly hit some object above and beyond a barn door. If there is one phase more than any other of which I am utterly sick, it is that which affirms that such a young man or young woman, just graduated, has "finished" his or her eeucation. Education is never finished. It begins with the beginning of life and does not end with death. For if there is life beyond the grave; if this "vital spark of heavenly flame" we call the soul be not extinguished by the final breath, surely our education will, must, go on and on forever. The manner in which you continue and develop the knowledge acquired in the last three years, will determine whether you have merely gone through the Manual Training School, or the school has gone through you—a very different matter.

The French Academy is

of France. It has forty members, the same number as this graduating class, and they are called "The Immortals." I should be sorry to think that none of our American forty would do as much work in the world, of substantial and permanent value, as some of the French forty; for of the real value of very much of the work done by "The Immortals" I have not an exalted estimate.

Be this as it may, however, you are, young gentleman, bound by every principle of honor and honesty to do the very best you can—and neither men nor angels can do more. What a grand word is "Duty!" In the heart of the world's greatest city stands a splendid column dedicated to the fame of England's greatest sailor and crowned with his colossal statue. Long before Macaulay's New Zealander "takes his stand upon a broken arch of London bridge to sketch the ruins of St. Paul's" column and statue will have crumbled back to the dust from whence they came. But as long as the English race or the English language lasts, as long as English history survives, Nelson's signal words on the morning of the battle of Trafalgar will be remembered: "England expects every man to do his duty." And they did it, winning thereby the mighty victory which gave to England the unquestioned supremacy of the seas.

At Lucknow, near the old palace, is a grave, carefully guarded and tended—the grave of Sir Henry Lawrence, one of that little group of indomitable Englishmen whose valor and genius saved British rule in India from the tremendous rebellion of 1857. On the tombstone are these words, dictated by Lawrence himself when dying: "Here lies one who tried to do his duty." Was there ever a nobler epitaph than that?

Try to do your whole duty in the world, young gentlemen, and be not too easily conquered by "Circumstance, that unspiritual god." And remember always the wise words which Shakspeare puts in the mouth of foolish old Polonius:

"This above all: First to thine own self be true, and it shall follow, as the night the day, thou canst not then be false to any man."

WELLINGTON DEAD.

His Slayer Acquitted on the Ground of Justifiable Homicide.

J. R. Wellington, the traveling salesman from this city who was shot at Clay Center, Kan., by Dr. J. P. Stewart, died late last night from the effects of the wound in his head.

The story of the affair was told fully in yesterday's POST-DISPATCH, and was in substance the history of Wellington's relations with Mrs. H. Head, wife of the cashier of the People's National Bank, and the separation caused by Wellington's attentions to Mrs. Head. Dr. Stewart, the father of Mrs. Head, met Wellington on the public street at Clay Center and for some insulting remarks struck him with a cane. Wellington made a movement as if drawing a revolver and Dr. Stewart thinking he was going to do so shot Wellington through the head.

The Coroner's jury, after hearing evidence for six hours, last night brought in a verdict of "Justifiable homicide in defense of himself and family."

ALL FOR A WOMAN.

Two Young Texans Fight a Duel to the Death.

ST. AUGUSTINE, Tex., June 13.—Rube Polk, Jr., and George Andry, two young men of this city, fought a duel to the death with bowie knives Tuesday night for a woman. The men attended a party and left together, apparently the best of friends. While on the way home they quarreled over one of the girls, and they dismounted and drawing their knives fought it out on the road side. Polk was killed in a few minutes. He was stabbed to the heart and his jugular was severed. Andry received a fearful cut in the side and one in the leg. He was carried home from the battle ground and told his friends to inform the Sheriff that he was ready to give himself up.

FOUGHT LIKE A TIGER.

John T. Brady Arrested While Brandishing a Big Butcher Knife.

John T. Brady was drunk this morning, and with an enormous butcher knife in his hand he made much trouble in the vicinity of the Four Courts. Brady has been on a spree for some days past and was under arrest all day yesterday. Upon obtaining his release he immediately proceeded to "bowl up" and by this morning he was almost frenzied. In Paul Kempf's saloon he obtained possession of a large butcher knife, and armed with this formidable weapon he proceeded to "cut" a dash. His condition finally became so dangerous and his manner so threatening that a stranger who had dropped into the saloon to get a glass of beer only to be chased over tables and chairs by the semi-maniac, proceeded to the Central District Police Station and insisted upon Brady's arrest. Officer Frese was at once dispatched to make the arrest. In the meantime a friend had led the drunken man from the saloon and was taking him north on Twelfth street when the officer came up. Brady had retained possession of the knife, and when Frese grappled with him a desperate struggle ensued for its possession. The weapon finally dropped from Brady's grasp and his friend siezed it and threw it across the street. The prisoner fought like a madman and in his drunken desperation exhibited almost superhuman strength, four officers being required to lock him up in a cell. Once confined, it was found that the prisoner's arm was covered with blood, wounds received in a fight on the day previous having been torn open in the struggle. Brady's brother was at one time Sergeant-at-Arms of the House of Delegates.

CUTTING PRICES OF SALT.

Outsiders to Be Forced Into the Michigan Association by Competition.

An Associated Press dispatch from Detroit states that it is reported that General Manager Burt of the Michigan Salt Association, and the chief mover of the Salt Trust which is in process of formation, has determined to force the outsiders in, and to do that will reduce prices 10 per cent. The matter is of particular interest to St. Louis, as this city stands about third in the six large distributing centers of the country, and is also one of the strongest competitive points, the business being entirely in the hands of James F. Ewing, who represents the Micigan Salt Association, and Hugh Rogers, who represents the outsiders who are to be forced in and Ohio River manufacturers and Eastern importers. The outsiders who are now threatened are the Michigan manufacturers who are not members of the association. Mr. Burt's association is to be the nucleus of the general trust organization being perfected, and before the trust is closed up it is desired to have everything in Michigan in shape to come into it, that State producing one-third of the salt consumed in the United States, the other two-thirds being divided equally between other States and importers. The association, however, is weaker than it was a year ago. Then there were only two outsiders, where now there are seven or eight, and to make matters worse the increase is partly due to withdrawals from the association. Matters are still further complicated by the growth of the salt business in Kansas, and the desirability of a trust organization is greatly increased by the surprising progress made there. A year ago there were but two manufactories at Hutchinson, while now there are about 20, and they are all doing a good business. The cost of manufacture is more than in Michigan, but with the freight rate added to the cost of the latter the advantage is largely on the side of the Kansas product, and this is increased by a concession in freight rates to Texas points of 15 cents. This has increased competition remarkably, and salt is now delivered here at $1 a barrel, 10 cents less than three months ago. It is even said that it is delivered in East St. Louis at 75 cents a barrel, but this is denied by the sellers.

HANGED BY HOOSIERS.

Two Murderous Burglars Lynched by a Mob at Corydon, Ind.

CORYDON, Ind., June 13.—James Deavin and Charles Tennyson were lynched at 2 o'clock this morning. They were taken from the jail here by a mob of 200 men and removed to the bridge west of town, where an effort to make them confess failed, and they were strung up. The two men attempted to rob the residence of James Lemay near here Friday night. Lemay resisted and was shot, but not fatally wounded. A young woman, a niece of Mr. Lemay, was also seriously injured by a bullet.

A Word About Catarrh.

"It is the mucous membrane, that wonderful semi-fluid envelope surrounding the delicate tissues of the air and food passages, that Catarrh makes its stronghold. Once established, it eats into the very vitals, and renders life but a long-drawn breath of misery and disease, dulling the sense of hearing, trammelling the power of speech, destroying the faculty of smell, tainting the breath, and killing the refined pleasures of taste. Insidiously, by creeping on from a simple cold in the head, it assaults the membranous lining and envelops the bones, eating through the delicate coats and causing inflammation, sloughing and death. Nothing short of total eradication will secure health to the patient, and all alleviatives are simply procrastinated sufferings, leading to a fatal termination. SANDFORD'S RADICAL CURE, by INHALATION and by INTERNAL administration, has never failed; even when the disease has made frightful inroads on delicate constitutions, hearing, smell and taste have been recovered, and the disease thoroughly driven out."

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE consists of one bottle of the RADICAL CURE, one box of CATARRHAL SOLVENT and one IMPROVED INHALER, neatly wrapped in one package, with full directions; price, $1.

MONEY.

NEW YORK, June 13, 11 a. m.—The stock market this morning showed but little change in its character from that of yesterday and at the opening was moderately active, with first prices generally from ⅛ to ⅜ per cent higher than last evening's figures. Burlington was the only marked exception, with a loss of ⅜ per cent. The improvement could not be maintained in the face of the free offerings of stocks and the entire list slowly yielded after the opening. There was no marked weakness in the list except in Chicago Gas, which declined sharply in the early trading and lost 1¼ per cent to 59⅜, but afterward recovered a portion of the loss. The concession was generally less than ½ per cent, and New England and Big Four showed some strength, moving up small fractions. Among the trusts, sugar was again decidedly strong and advanced 1 per cent, to 111, while Cotton Oil showed some strength, and lead was weak with the regular list. The market displayed no further feature and at 11 o'clock it was fairly active and heavy at the lowest prices reached and fractionally lower than the opening figures.

Noon.—Money is easy at 2 per cent. Bar silver, 91⅞. The stock market continued active after 11 o'clock for most of the hour, and the heaviness also still marked the trading. Missouri Pacific showed most weakness in the regular list and declined ⅞ per cent, but Jersey Central afterward declined and at its lowest point showed a net loss of 1 per cent. Sugar trusts also lost over 1 per cent and retired below its first figures. New England was the most notable exception to the rule and continued to advance slowly and touched 49, a gain of 1 per cent from the opening. The movements in the others were small and insignificant and late in the hour the market became quiet and dull. At noon it was dull and heavy at about the lowest prices of the morning.

3 p. m.—The stock market closed quiet and steady at about the lowest figures of the day.

LONDON, June 13, 12:30 p. m.—Consols opened at 98 3-16 for money and 98¼ for the account.

St. Louis Markets.

REGULAR SESSION, CLOSING 1:15 P. M.

This morning the stock of No. 2 red wheat was below the 100,000 mark.

The Exchange value of the Russian rouble has fallen to about 25d. against 19½d at same time last year. This difference in the Exchange represents a loss to the Russian producer of no less than 19½ per bu.

A letter from Ft. Worth, Tex., to J. W. Booth & Sons says harvesting is over and the quality of the wheat is good, but they are having continuous rains, and where they expected new wheat this week looks now as though the crop would not move for some time.

Even should the wheat crop of this year prove, as some predict, equal to that of 1884, which was the largest crop ever raised—512,000,000 bu—the two crops of 1888 and 1889 would be 5,209,000 bu less than the two crops of 1883 and 1884. The average price of No. 2 red winter wheat in the New York market for the year following the large crop of 1884 was 96c, while the cost of transportation from the interior to the seaboard was quite as low as now. The invisible and visible supply July 1 this year will undoubtedly be less than that of July 1, 1884. The crops of other countries in 1883 and 1884 were fully up to an average, while the crops of India, Australia and the Argentine Republic this year are far below those of 1884.

Last postal advices from Odessa speak unfavorably of the winter-sown crops, but the spring wheat crops look well. The spring wheat crop is usually about double that of winter. The stock of wheat at Odessa is small and has been reduced to 3,200,000 bushels.

A. H. Danforth, the Charleston (Mo.) banker, writes W. T. Anderson & Co., that the weather in his section is clear and farmers busy cutting wheat. With good weather they will commence threshing about the 20th. The wheat crop, he says, was never better, of fine quality, and farmers think it will make 20 to 30 bu to the acre.

New Orleans yesterday cleared 29,176 bu corn for Bremen and 70,000 for Liverpool.

New York to Small & Rasin: "Liverpool wheat quiet and steady." To Green: "Cables wheat easier and not much business passing; corn, steadier feeling at the decline." To Francis: London wheat quiet. Liverpool tending in buyers' favor. Weather brilliant. Liverpool closes heavy, with few buyers."

Chicago was bulling on drouth in Dakota this morning, but about noon came advices of good rains falling in the drouth district.

Chicago to T. W. Burns: "Woerishoffers, bankers in New York, have direct advices from Argentine Republic saying crop total failure."

Advices that 35 loads wheat had been taken in New York for export were received, and part of this said to be for South America.

As high as 92c was paid for a fancy lot of sample wheat to-day. Verily, this cash wheat is becoming "scearce."

That early crop of 1889 wheat is not moving as early as was expected. Here it is nearly the 15th of June and not even a panful of new wheat in yet. The July shorts may have to hustle yet.

Wheat traders had a surprise party this morning. Nearly every operator in the pit was confident the market would decline still further. There was a lower Chicago and dull cables, and though the weather was not what could be wished for, rain was not altogether certain and the reports of harvesting were coming in in increasing numbers. But while a further break was looked for, everybody was waiting for somebody else to sell. The consequence of this was there was hardly any wheat for sale at the opening, and when Frank Ryan began bidding for July a sudden semi-panic struck the crowd. Instantly nearly everybody discovered he wanted a five or so and the buying became so eager as to run July from 72c to 72¾@⅞c. Chicago came after with reports of drouth in Dakota, and for a while great strength was seen. Then came telegrams announcing good rains in the Jim River Valley, upon which the market broke to 72¼c, with quite a rush to sell. However, there was an uneasy feeling locally over the cloudy weather, the fact that new wheat was not moving as was expected. Reports of heavy export buying at New York came in, too, and all markets went a-kiting. July sold up to 73c, and at close had buyers at 72⅞c, or 1c above yesterday. Millers and shippers were anxious enough to buy spot grades, but they couldn't find any, except at extremely high prices, so that nothing was done. No. 2 red had bids of 85c for regular, 87½c for C., 88½c for St. L., but not to be had under 90c. No. 3 red salable at 81c this side. Samples were very strong and met with quick sale, especially the best stock, choice and fancy selling at 90@92c.

Corn—Not a future trade was made until the second call was reached. Prior to that the market had been firm along with wheat and slightly better prices were bid without sellers. On that call June sold at 31⅛c, July at 31½c, August at 32¼c and September at 32¾c, and afterwards August was traded in at 32⅛@¼, but the close was firm. Spot grades were firm, but business very light, as for one thing little was offered. No. 2 sold in C. and U. at 31⅛c, and in St. L. at 31¼c; No. 3 at 30c in U. and 30½c in St. L. and bid for C.; No. 4 was neglected; No. 2 white sold this side at 34@34½c, and 34c bid for 50,000 regular; No. 3 do at 31c in St. L. and bid for C.

Oats—No speculation at all, not a single trade being made. July was offered at 22c, but there were no bids for it. Spot grades were steady, but little could be done owing to the great scarcity in the offerings. No. 2 was worth 22¾c, though neither offered or bid for. No. 3 was salable at 21c in St. L., C., M. and U., and the only sale was of no grade at 20c in St. L.

Rye—Grade No. 2 was offered E side at 40c, with 39c bid and this side salable at 38c.

Flour—The scarcity of extra fancy is still plainly felt and that grade sells quickly at full prices, but patents quiet and low and medium grades actually dull. Quotations: XXX., $2.50@2.65; family, $2.75@2.85; choice, $3.15@3.25; fancy, 3.75@3.90; extra fancy, $4.15@4.25; patents, $4.50@4.70. These prices for lots at depot and on levee this side.

Rye flour dull at $3@3.05 per bbl delivered.

Cornmeal, etc., firm and unchanged at $2.10@2.15; pearl meal, grits and hominy at $2.35@2.45—all city make on orders delivered.

Bran fairly active and steady. Sales E. side points 30c for track, 46@46½c for sacked; latter E. track 47½c and f. o. b. boat 49.

Hay was dull and dragging with weak feeling. Offerings exceeded the demand, even of the best grades. On West tracks—Prairie, prime to fancy Kansas, $7@8.25; mixed timothy, common, $7.50@8.50; prime to choice, $9.00@10.00; timothy, prime to strictly prime, $10.00@11.00; choice to strictly choice, $11.50@12.50; fancy, $13.00@13.50.

Provisions were slow and weak, with only a moderate job and order business. Dry salt c'ribs were offered to arrive at 6c c. and f. here for winter, and some small lots summer sold on spot at 5.85@5.90c. Loose 40-day dry salt f. o. b. on orders: Shoulders, 5.15c; longs and c'ribs, 5.95c; shorts, 6.15c; boxed shoulders, 5⅛@5¼c; longs, 6.10c; c'ribs, 6.15c; shorts, 6.25c. Packed bacon shoulders, 5.75c; longs and c'ribs 6.65@6.70c; shorts, 6¾@6.80c. Standard mess pork, $12@12.12½; hard side, $11.87½. Prime steam lard at 6.45c this side, fancy leaf, 7¾c; second brand, 7¾c; country, worth 6@6¼c. Sugar-cured hams, 10½@12½c; breakfast bacon, 9½@10½c. Beef—Family, $6.50@10 ⅌ bbl; on orders, higher, $4@5.50 ⅌ half-bbl, dried, 8½@9½c; selected, 11c ⅌ lb; tongues, $4@5 ⅌ dozen. Salt—Domestic, 90c ⅌ bbl on E., 95 this side. Ground alum, $1.10@1.15 ⅌ 1-lb sack; small, way higher.

Highwines unchanged at $1.02 in St. Louis, Cincinnati and Chicago, $1.03 in Peoria.

Lead quiet and unchanged. Soft Missouri was offered at $3.75, but chemical hard and refined worth $3.80.

Chicago Letter.

Telegraphed the Redmond Cleary Commission Co.

CHICAGO, Ill., June 13.—The continuance of dry weather reports in the Northwest gave us an active and higher market for wheat from the opening, and we close at about the highest point of the day. Rains have been reported from the Red River Valley, but our local scalpers are bullish and willing buyers on any advices on that side. The price is low, the stock in sight light and the arguments they use are all for higher prices. December at about 77⅛c is a sale.

Havre is 1 franc lower since the 8th and Hamburg is ¼ to ¾ lower since the 7th.

Messrs. Levering & Co.'s weekly Rio cable quotes that market quiet, with high grades ¼c higher, and low grades ⅛c lower for the week.

Trade on the spot continues dull, and we hear of no sales. Of the large warehouse deliveries reported to-day 15,060 bags were withdrawals by a large roaster here.

Cotton.

To day the Liverpool market was quiet for spot, with a limited enquiry, opened quiet for futures at a decline and closed steady. The New York market was easy for spot, opened steady for futures, and at 2:16 p. m. was dull but steady. The local market was steady.

The bureau's report strikes the average on the number of States and not on the acreage of States, whereas the largest State, namely, Texas, shows a condition of 95 against 80 last year. It is a striking coincidence that the adverse influences upon the crop in May were almost the same as in 1882, when the largest yield per acre on record was made. The condition this year is but 2 6-10 lower than on June 1 in that year.
